

Prep Downs Pingry 25-0

Pennington, Muha, Kluey and Ratti Tally; Averages Over Seven Yards on Each Try

The Rutgers Prep powerhouse added to its string of victories by subduing the Pingry eleven 25 to 0 at Elizabeth on Saturday, October 29. Pingry never threatened seriously, whereas Prep scored with ease in every period.

The first touchdown came in the first few minutes of the game. Manny Werner received the kickoff and immediately counter-kicked to the Pingry five yard stripe. Their punt was returned by Ferdinand Ratti to the Pingry sixteen yard line, where on two linebacks George Muha picked up seven yards. On the next play Ratti tossed a flat pass over the goal line to Pennington for the score. John Kluey's attempted place kick went wide.

The next tally came on the first play of the second quarter, with Muha plunging over from the one yard line. The ball was put in scoring position by two long runs by Ratti and Werner and a series of line bucks by Muha. The running conversion failed.

In the third quarter Muha threw a thirty yard pass to Kluey who was standing in pay territory. Kluey went up into the air with a Pingry man on either side and came down with the ball to score six more points. Muha went through center for the extra point.

The final score of the game came a few minutes before the end of the last period. A running pass from Ratti to Werner was good for thirty-five yards, placing the ball on the Pingry twenty-five yard line. Two plays later Ratti broke loose and ran twenty-five yards for the touchdown.

The Prep running attack was perfection. Every time Prep ran with the ball they averaged slightly over seven yards. Ratti and Malthaner led the parade, averaging a gain of eleven and nine yards, respectively.

Headmaster Announces First Month Honor Roll Largest Number of Eligibles In Years

After a month of hard work, twenty-five boys were rewarded for their effort by finding a place on the School Honor Roll. Only one boy was able to achieve an average above ninety, David Beardslee, who consequently leads the school. Thirteen followed him with averages between eighty-five and ninety, and eleven turned in averages between eighty and eighty-five.

Mr. Shepard was very pleased with this large number. Commenting on the fact that most of these boys were seniors, he added that he hoped that next month the lower classes would give them a run for their money.

Prep Gives Buffet Supper For Parents Seventy-Five Guests Attend

After our victory over Newman School on Friday, October 21, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard and the faculty of Rutgers Prep played host to the parents and friends of the boys at a buffet supper. A large number were present, filling the small dining hall. The school did nobly, however, and the affair was highly successful. The names of those who attended follow:

Mrs. A. S. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bartow, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Beaudette, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Coad, Mrs. Benton Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cramer, Major and Mrs. A. P. Croonquist, Mr. and Mrs. Tunis B. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeVoe, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Farley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Flynn, Mrs. Shaler Cabot Gosse, Dr. and Mrs. B. S. Howley, Miss Margaret Howley, Major and Mrs. P. V. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lamberton, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Meyers, Mrs. Hilde Felix-Hermann, Miss Ann Julia Ratti, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler H. Rust, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson M. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weindel, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wenzel, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Werner, Mrs. Edna P. Carr, Miss Edna H. Garretson, Miss Margery J. Shankel, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Metzger, Dr. Robert C. Clothier, Miss Margaret Jackson, Mrs. Frederick Keidel, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Luther H. Martin, Miss Hilda Barr Wheeler, Miss Ellen J. Lewis, Miss Juliet Schwenger, Mrs. B. K. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. James Deschler, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moynihan, Dr. and Mrs. Vernon M. Parkinson.

The menu consisted of oyster and mushroom patties, peas, potato chips, celery, olives, nuts, and for dessert ice cream and cake with strawberry sauce. Mrs. William B. Cook, Mrs. H. E. Rudy and Mrs. George A. Andrews assisted Mrs. Stanley Shepard in receiving.

Rutgers Prep Opens 172nd Year With Ninety-Six Boys

At the opening of the Rutgers Preparatory School on September 20, 1938, ninety-six boys reported for work, completely filling the study hall. In this, the second year under the leadership of Mr. Stanley Shepard, Jr., Headmaster, the enrollment shows a marked increase over that of previous years, and all friends of the school are distinctly gratified with this change for the better.

The school is divided into thirty-nine boys in the boarding department, and fifty-seven day boys. In the individual classes, there are thirty-six Seniors, twenty-one Juniors, seventeen Sophomores, and twenty-two Freshmen. These boys come principally from New Jersey, which has furnished seventy-nine. Seven are from New York State; one each from Maryland, California, Georgia, Virginia and North Carolina; while Pennsylvania has supplied three, and Ohio, two.

As soon as the torrential downpours which accompanied the opening of the school had ceased, the new tennis courts were soon crowded, and thirty boys reported to the coaches for football practice. Among the many new additions to the school equipment, the most useful, perhaps, is the new dictionary which has been placed in the Study Hall. All in all, it looks like an excellent year in the offing.

Theatre Club Announces Plans for '38-'39 Season

The Theatre Club, which was recently organized for the 1938-39 season, is for not only those boys interested in the Shakespearean drama, but also for those who enjoy comedy, opera, and drama of the lighter type. It is not confined to one small group of boys, but it welcomes all students who wish to take part in its various activities. These will include several trips to New York.

Last year it was possible for the theatregoers to see two plays. They saw first "Juno and the Paycock," which was presented by the Abbey Players of Dublin. This group of players is considered the best company of English-speaking actors in the world. On their second trip the members of the club saw Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy," the exciting story of the life of a young prizefighter. They also intended to see "You Can't Take It With You," but because of insufficient funds they were unable to do so. This being a Pulitzer Prize play, perhaps a sufficiently large group of boys will be assembled to go in to see it this year. If you have any suggestions as to some plays that the club might like to see, please give your ideas to Mr. Brewer.

On Saturday evening, November 5, a group of fifteen boys will go to see "Victoria Regina," with Helen Hayes in the leading role, a play which tells the story of Queen Victoria's reign. Two weeks later, on November 19, another group will go to see "Hamlet," with Maurice Evans, the greatest Shakespearean actor of the day, cast in the part of the ill-fated prince. Mr. Evans last year played the title role in "King Richard III."

EDITORIAL

Once again THE ARGO goes to press. Once again Rutgers Preparatory School has its own paper. Once again the student body will be kept informed of all the student activities. And, we hope, once again a real school spirit will show itself.

School spirit consists of two things: First, taking an active part in as many school functions as possible, and, second, backing with equal enthusiasm all of the other activities of the school. Here at Rutgers Prep we have an abundance of the first, as was shown by the large turnout for football, but we are sadly lacking in the second, as shown by the number of boys who do not appear to be interested in the football team and who do not turn out to the games to cheer the boys on.

The main reasons for this want of school spirit is, we believe, lack of interest in and information concerning the activities, and perhaps laziness. THE ARGO hopes to remedy the first deficiency by reporting on all activities and by building up interest, but only you, the boys to whom these words are directed, can remedy the second.

Come on now, let's start by getting out there and cheering the football team on. Now that we have a winning team this year, let's support it.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE ARGO

The first number of THE ARGO was published on December 1, 1889, by the students of what was then known as the Rutgers College Grammar School. J. H. Thompson was its first editor. Its purpose was to serve as a monthly school magazine and literary organ. It announced many changes in the school, such as the purchase of an organ and the introduction of singing in the morning exercises, and the purchase of a flag for the school by its students. The subscription cost was fifty cents per year. The issue contained eight pages. In 1890 the size of the magazine was gradually increased until it reached sixteen pages and the subscription price was raised to seventy-five cents. The magazine continued to gain in size and quality. It concentrated on the literary endeavors of the students rather than on the news of school happenings. A few columns were introduced, but the tone of the paper remained the same. In 1914 it was changed to a monthly newspaper for the school. Many new columns appeared, and school news, especially sports, received the most prominent place in its pages. It often contained, however, stories, essays, and poems by students. The paper reached its peak in 1925 with a twenty-eight page format and a special cover for each issue. It then began a gradual decline. When it suspended publication in 1933 it was a four-page monthly paper. Last year an attempt was made to revive it as a mimeographed weekly. This year it will be printed once again. The staff of the paper hopes, with the cooperation of the student body, to restore to it some of its former vigor.

PICK-UPS

By Vincent Kellogg

Recently two former Rutgers Prep grid-iron stars gained a singularly distinctive honor. During the Rutgers-Hampden-Sydney game, the first event in the new million-dollar stadium, Burt Hasbrouck plunged from the four-yard line for the first touchdown, and a few minutes later Joe Varju picked up a blocked kick and ran twenty-four yards for the second score of the game. Thus the first two touchdowns to be scored in the recently completed Rutgers Stadium were made by former Rutgers Prep boys.

The press box is most decidedly the best place to sit during a dull football game. Typical remarks heard there were:

"Estimated attendance is six thousand."
"Overestimated attendance, six thousand."

Two guys must have each counted three thousand . . . and then gotten together.

"Pass up a cheese sandwich, I'm a vegetarian."

"So long, boys, I think I'll get a rain check and come back next year . . . There's always a good team 'next year.'"

Written on Western Union blank:
"Dear Sports Ed.: Please just forget you sent me."

Not long ago at the Rutgers freshman reception the majority of the poor down-trodden frosh just didn't have a chance. Not only had the feminine pulchritude of N. J. C. been previously discovered by Rutgers Prep boys, but the gals also seemed to think that the "tall, dark and handsome" chaperones (upperclassmen, of course) were pretty O. K. The following was overheard: " . . . and the gentleman who introduced me to the boys was just my ideal type."

In a recent quiz given at the Millards School in Washington a certain student made a noble attempt to simplify history. When asked "Who carried the message to Garcia?" he answered: "Alexander Graham Bell."

SAWDUST SAWYER

By Roy Stogner

"Monday morning, four more days 'til heaven." This outburst of questionable melody is coming from the second floor washroom of the Gamma House. The time: 6:45 of a Monday morning. The cold rain is bouncing off the roof and slithering down the drain. Van Duzer is having considerable difficulty brushing his chattering teeth, and Brook is trying to find himself in the mist-covered mirror. Clark has just stumbled out of bed and is busily putting himself into his trousers. "Don't look now, Red, but you forgot to take off your pajamas."

Mr. Holley is taking the usual inspection tour, carrying soap and water. Says Mr. Holley: "I'm getting dish water hands from so much washing, but it can't be helped."

Yesterday Mr. Holley ran his hands over a couple of dressers and went down stairs, passing Johnny on the way. Johnny said: "Thank yo' all, suh." "For what?" inquires Mr. Holley. "Foh cleaning the furnace. It sho' must' been pow'ful dirty frum the looks uv yo' hands."

Tuesday morning, after the usual pretense concerning the morning toilet, all inhabitants of the Gamma House are assembled in the basement. Mr. Holley remarks that the moths have evidently been at work on the pool table again. So, just to keep the moths from damaging the cue sticks and balls, he removes said articles to the protective atmosphere of his room.

Evidently the termites also have been at work on the fireplace. The other day Tony Gosse nonchalantly flicked some cigarette ashes on the mantel, which promptly fell, nearly decapitating a toe. Never throw stones in glass houses, Tony.

DEAR DIARY—

Mon.—After a slumbersome night, Gamma house and its inmates dash off a bit of houses try to sleep. It's very disconcerting!

Tues.—Van Duzer, a Gamma termite, faux-pas his teeth with his hairbrush. We know some people in Gamma who don't brush their teeth at all.

Wed.—Archie, maitre d'hotel of our mess hall, fishes a defunct cat out of the morning milk (or so 'tis reported). No wonder everyone drinks coffee.

Thurs.—Mr. Stearns (magister latine) announces to goggle-eyed freshmen that he can be as gentle as a lamb (he didn't mention its sex), but fiercer than a dragon if aroused. Much consternation felt by class.

Fri.—Everyone in Delta, the best house on the campus (adv.), took a shower at seven o'clock check-up. Incidental to that, we slaughtered Newman 14-0 in football.

Sat.—Majority of student body saw pre-inaugural football game in the new Rutgers stadium. A very nice stadium—and, oh yes, Hampton-Sydney lost 32-0 to the Rutgers Reckers.

Sun.—Church and sleep and parents sum up a not-very-busy day.

Mon.—Rain! No athletics for boarding students, the football team excepted. Much tramping around in puddles and colds expected.

Tues.—Intelligence tests and some girls from N. J. C. to give them. If any of you girls read this, I was the third from the left, front row, room three.

Wed.—Honor Roll read off. Twenty-five proud parents may be found in or around New Jersey.

Thurs.—Rain again! But, happily, it blew away and left behind THE ARGO staff to get out the splendidest edition you now gaze on. Maybe you're wishing it hadn't stopped raining.

ODD BITS

Strange things happen in "Doc" Cook's plane class. One peculiar incident occurred recently when Thompson actually heard the "proof" that Jimmy Eden failed to give . . . Must be his sub-conscious mind at work . . . Don't overwork it; very few brains can accomplish such feats.

A definite air of brightness has finally penetrated the gloom of the Gamma House. The source of this light in "Darling" Brooke . . . For further information come to the second floor of the aforementioned Gamma House and take a gander at his dresser.

Poor Johnny! The terror of the grid-iron, the mad chemist, is suddenly worried about his health. Better watch the blood pressure, Johnny!

ALUMNI NEWS

Albert Holz, '38, now attending Lehigh, visited the school on Saturday, October 15. Ray Greene, also at Lehigh, was here Sunday, October 16.

Clyde King, '37, has transferred from the University of Texas to the University of Pennsylvania and was here for luncheon on Saturday, together with Jack Drake and Bob Bowen.

Paul Croonquist, '38, visited the school last Sunday. He is a member of the Millards School in Washington, D. C., where he is preparing for West Point.

Carmen Updye, '37, is a Soph at Rutgers and a member of the Varsity football squad.

First Game Brings Victory to Prep

Strong Morristown Team Bows, 19-6

With its first victory in three years Rutgers Prep defeated Morristown School, which had not tasted defeat for seventeen straight victories, by a score of 19-6, at Morristown, N. J., October 8.

Prep tallied quickly in the first quarter with a touchdown by Muha. John Kluey converted the extra point.

In the second period Ferd Ratti fumbled and Jim Pennington recovered the fumble to run fifty-five yards for a touchdown.

With a perfect aerial attack, Morristown brought the ball down to Prep's three-yard line. On the next play, an end run, Morristown went over the goal, ending the first half, with Prep leading 13-6.

The last touchdown was scored on a six-yard end run by Ferd Ratti.

Rutgers Prep Subdues Kingsley Eleven

End Runs and Passes Score For Victors

The Rutgers Prep eleven continued its gridiron renaissance by marching to its second straight victory on Neilson Field, Friday, October 14.

Conquering the Kingsley School by a score of 38-0, Coach Walter Petke's pupils had equal success over the ground and through the air, and turned in a score in every period.

George Muha was on the tossing end of three touchdowns and opened the scoring by throwing a thirty-eight-yard pass to Jim Pennington. In the second period Muha threw Ed Kolakowski a twenty-yard pass and Ed galloped fifteen yards for a tally. Ferdinand Ratti turned in several sparkling open-field runs and accounted for one touchdown in the second period on a five-yard sprint around left end.

The third period saw John Kluey run nineteen yards through Kingsley's territory. Ratti fought his way to Kingsley's seven-yard line on an end sweep, and Muha tallied on the second line plunge. Tony Gwiazdowski scored a touchdown by intercepting a pass on Kingsley's twenty-two-yard line and crossing the goal line untouched. The last score of the game came when John Kluey received Muha's fifty-five-yard heave and tallied from the goal line.

John F. Schmidt '39

Schmidt Appointed Varsity Football Captain

John F. Schmidt, '39, was appointed on October 8, 1938, by the football coaches to lead the Rutgers Prep eleven this year.

Schmidt was born March 23, 1920, in New Brunswick and has lived in this city ever since. Before coming to Rutgers Prep in January, 1938, he attended the New Brunswick High School, where he was All-State guard for three years, as well as being on the Honor Roll, graduating as a member of the New Jersey Honorary Society.

THE ARGO congratulates John on his appointment and wishes him continued success on the gridiron and in the study hall.

James F. Potter, Jr. '41

Potter Unanimously Elected Junior Varsity Football Captain

On October 4, James F. Potter, Jr., '41, was chosen by his teammates to lead them during the present season.

Potter was born and bred in New Brunswick and has been a member of Rutgers Prep since his First Grade year in the Elementary School. He is an all-round athlete, and last year was awarded, by vote of the student body, the Liberty Loan Prize for the best all-round lower classman in the school. This was a signal honor, as this prize is seldom awarded to a freshman. He has also been a member of the J. V. basketball and baseball teams. Jimmy is on the Honor Roll this year and last year was awarded a Bronze Scholarship Pin.

Midgets Prevail Over Strong Peddie Freshmen

On Wednesday, October 12, at Peddie School, the Rutgers Prep Midget football team turned in their first victory of the current season, with a score of 20-7.

Phil Rust, right end of Prep, blocked Peddie's attempted punt. Two plays later Dave Rust, on an off tackle play, ran twenty-five yards for the first touchdown. The try for an extra point by a pass failed.

In the second period Benson, of Peddie, ran to Prep's five-yard line over center, and the team scored a touchdown at the end of the first half.

In the third period Potter of Prep threw a thirty-yard pass to J. Cramer, who received it behind the goal line, and scored the second touchdown for Prep. A few plays later Dave Rust sprinted twenty-five yards around right end for another score. A quarterback sneak by D. Turner added the extra point.

Prep Makes Bid For State Championship

Trounces Newman 14 to 0

Rutgers Prep made a strong bid for the State football championship in Group III by defeating a powerful Newman eleven on Friday, October 21, by the score of 14 to 0, on Neilson Field.

The Prep passing attack was not as successful as usual, only thirty-nine yards being gained via the air route. What they lacked in passing power was made up in the brilliant running of George Muha, who carried the ball nineteen times to gain one hundred and forty-six yards.

The first score came early in the second quarter, when Ferdinand Ratti went over the goal line from the four-yard stripe on an end sweep. A pass from Manny Werner to Bill Hasbrouck was good for the conversion. The other touchdown was made in the second half.

Shortly after the opening kickoff in the second half, Ratti ran a punt back fifteen yards to the fifty. Muha on a series of line plunges made it first down on the Newman forty. On the next play Muha again went through the center of the line and, with a beautiful bit of broken field running, ran forty yards for a touchdown. The conversion was again made by a pass; this time from Muha to Kluey.

The only serious injury that the Prep team suffered was the loss of Fred Parkinson, first string center. His nose was broken, but it is hoped that he will soon be back.
