School Arranges June Ceremonies

Prep's one-hundred and ninetieth commencement will be held as in previous years in the Kirkpatrick Chapel on Rutgers' Campus. About nine o'clock on Thursday morning, June seventh, the student body and faculty will assemble in the study hall to hear the final Honor Roll and receive Honor Award Pins and Athletic Letters.

Afterwards the entire student body will gather outside the school to walk over to the chapel where the seniors will partake in the commencement exercises, having certain members of their class receive Cum Laude, various achievement and scholastic awards, and finally they will receive their diplomas.

Our guest speaker, Dr. Robert C. Milaram, is the Protestant counselor of students at Rutgers University. He is also very prominently associated with the Freedom for America movement and is the executive counselor for religion in the independent schools in the United States. As is most fitting of him, his address will revolve around the education of high-school seniors going on to college and how this factor prepares them for adult citizenship, freedom as an American, and social obligations.

Mr. Gaggini Returns After Long Illness

Much to the regret of Prep's faculty and students, on April 11 Mr. Gaggini became suddenly ill and was rushed to Saint Peter's Hospital. Everyone was very concerned and anxious to hear any available information regarding our well-liked Romance Language teacher's condition.

When news was disclosed, it was discovered that Mr. Gaggini was suffering from Perforated Meckles Divericulum. This is a rather rare disease of the abdomen.

Due to the seriousness of Mr. Gaggini's illness, he was unable to receive visitors for the first few days. He is very grateful for the many cards and gifts that friends so kindly sent.

April 20th Mr. Gaggini was released from the hospital.

During Mr. Gaggini's absence Spanish and French were well taken care of by Professor Billetdoux of Rutgers University.

Seniors Take Over Classes On Prep's Annual Senior Day

On Friday, April 27, the seniors at Prep took over the jobs of Headmaster and faculty.

On this day the faculty becomes students and the seniors teach. Each senior is assigned work by the respective teacher and must cover that work in one class period.

As is the custom, the president of the Student Council, this year, Stan Rosenblum, assumes the position of Headmaster. It is his duty to see that the day runs smoothly.

It was the job of the president to see that each senior taught subjects about which he or she has some knowledge. In this way each senior was able to do a good job since he knows about the course.

This day was, perhaps, the most successful of all senior days. In past years the seniors either didn't take their jobs seriously enough, or the students didn't respect them as their teachers. For this reason, previous senior days were not completely successful.

The seniors this year hope that the example they set will be carried on by future seniors. They proved that this day was not only beneficial, but proved to be fun as well.

FLASH!

Mr. Dumarae, the recipient of a Fulbright Fellowship, will leave for Rome by plane at the end of June to study in Europe during the summer months. Good luck, Mr. Dumarae.

On May 10, the junior and senior classes left after school on a bus trip to New York City. This trip was sponsored by the school.

The students ate dinner at Leone's, an excellent Italian restaurant, where a varied array of food was offered. Before and after dinner, there was time for the students to take a walk around New York.

The antipasto was a series of Italian prepared delicacies, served one at a time. The entree was either chicken, cacciatore or veal parmigiana. After dinner, the joint group of the classes went to Radio City Music Hall. "The Swan" with Grace Kelly and Alex Guinness was featured. A minstrel show was offered. They left then by bus to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kallfelz, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell, Mr. Dumarae, Mr. Moffat, and Mr. Holley also joined this group as chaperones.

The ride in the bus was fun for all as everyone sang and conversed.

The junior-senior trip was a substitution for the junior-senior prom. Although the prom was not possible, this substitution was so successful that a repetition is being considered for next year.

Ye Dial Staff Set

Mr. Gaggini, advisor of Ye Dial, and Mr. Heinlein, have recently announced the 1956-57 Editorial Staff of the yearbook. This Executive Board is headed by Joseph Messina, this year's Associate Editor, who will be Editor-in-Chief. Victor Stilwell and Fred Schatzman, both of whom will graduate next year, will be Art Editor and Photography Editor respectively. Incoming junior, Bernard Karshmer will again hold the office of Business Editor while sophomores, Florence Schmitt and Bruce Gunkle, will be Copy Editor and Sports Editor respectively.

After announcing this list, Mr. Gaggini said that there are many other important jobs as yet unassigned. He then explained that those students who have been chosen to fill these vacancies will be announced in the beginning of the next school year.

From The Editor's Desk

This is the first issue of the Argo the present staff has published, and I was most surprised to get the response that was received. Even at the first meeting, the interest shown toward the paper was quite substantial. In fact, this year's reporting staff seems to be the largest in comparison to previous years.

The editorial board decided on some very important improvements to be considered over the summer months. These improvements would not only be of profit to the paper, but they would be big assets to the school itself.

One of the major ideas which the Argo is working on is the formation of a journalistic course. Mrs. Wilson the student's advisor of the paper would like to see such an extra-curricular course initiated. This course would help the newspaper greatly by training students in writing and reporting. From this group, members would be selected to the Argo instead of the untrained reporters that are trying their best in working for the paper. And, before any of the present staff is insulted, I had better explain that it is not the students' fault the staff is inefficient. A good staff needs a lot of training before they are able to produce high grade work.

Question — If you were a student leader, what would be the first two reforms you would advocate?

George Freidlander: "If I were a student leader, I would have longer lunch periods and opening exercises before school every day."

Joy Newman—"I would introduce more after school activities and sports for both boys and girls and longer lunch periods."

Arlene Greenberg—"I would introduce some minor courses such as typing, gym, and drivers education and I would see that the student's social activities are better chaperoned."

James Ness—"I do not think any changes could be made at Rutgers Prep, except a music appreciation club with a band attached."

Lew Bronfman—"I would have a student lounge for seniors exclusively and the parking lot on the side of the school open to students that drive."

Jerry Gildar—"I would be in favor of athletics for the girls and running hot water."

Eric Schirber—"I would have running hot water and better school functions."

Bob Cox—"If I were a student leader, I would promote a greater number of student activities and a larger number of affairs. I would also like to see a greater support of the varsity sport by the student body."

Bob Torrone—"I would have less study halls and have the student's classes closer. Also, I would like to have more basketball games."

Jim Racz—"First I would like to have a longer lunch period to enable the students to eat properly. Secondly, I would like to have a class in typing."

Barbara Brennan—"I think girls should have some kinds of sports such as baseball or basketball. Also, the students should have a course in typing since it would be beneficial to all future college students."

Zena Bernstein—"If I were a student leader, I would try to have the German language taught in this school as a course. Also, I would like to have tennis for the girls."

Bill Utter—"If you had only four subjects, you could take them in the morning and have the afternoons for studying. The students who drive to school should have their own parking lot near the school."

Marty Bertman—"If I were a student leader, I would repaint the school building and try to promote more school functions such as a spring barbaque and other ideal functions."

Barbara Lipman—"I would try to rouse more enthusiasm in school activities."

Earl Nielsen—"A journalism course should be started for people who are interested in writing for the school paper and magazine. I think a typing course should be added because it would be beneficial to girls — especially to those girls who are interested in becoming secretaries."

Bob Tammaro—"If I were a student leader, I would have the return of sports clothes for boys. Also, I would see that there are parking facilities for those students that drive."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I think that we all know of the stupid antics played by a few of the eighth graders. This stuff, like making fun of people every time they sneeze and writing on the walls, is all baby stuff and should be stopped.

When Bernard Karshmer came up to the class and told them of the plan that the sophmores had used, I think they all realized how stupid their pranks really were. In this plan if someone does something against the school rules, he has two days in which to tell Mr. Holley about it. If he doesn't tell on himself, another person will be appointed to do so.

This plan will probably stop many of the pranks because the person involved will not like the idea of being forced to tell on himself.

A student.

The social activity at Prep has been rather poorly handled this year. The ideas concerning the various functions were at times good, but the dates and handling of the activities were poor. The leaders of our school, the seniors, have shown hindsight instead of the foresight which is absolutely essential in having good all around social events. I realize that in a school our size accomplishing a good social schedule is difficult, but I do think next year our student council should take special interest along these lines.

However, the student leaders are not all to blame. It's the students themselves. I cannot blame them if they don't show up at the various activities, for many of us don't appreciate such affairs and don't have a great deal of spirit for the school. I do accuse them, however, of not telling the student leaders that they don't want such affairs. In other words, if the students don't want something, they should take action, tell the student council about it and most likely, their wish will be granted. I think that next year this idea should be introduced to the students, perhaps preventing the social flops we have had in the past.

Finally, I should like to speak about the Prom — next year's Prom. Simply, I believe there shouldn't be one. The upperclassmen do not show enough interest nor are the students themselves worthy of it. In the past, Prep has held one out of tradition, but since I for one don't believe in tradition, I believe it should be abolished.

I wish the incoming officers of the student council would notice and perhaps take action on the previous suggestions.

TEEN COMMANDMENTS

A bulletin distributed to members of Sacred Heart Parish the other day lists timely "Teen Commandments" which it seems to us commend themselves to the consideration of all teenagers.

These are the Teen Commandments:

1. Stop and think before you drink.
2. Don't let your parents down; they brought you up.
3. Be humble enough to obey. You will be giving orders yourself some day.
4. At the first moment turn away from unclean thinking.
5. Don't show off while driving. If you want to race go to Indianapolis.
6. Choose a date who would make a good mate.
7. Go to church faithfully. The Creator gives us the week. Give Him back an hour.
8. Choose your companions carefully. You are what they are.
9. Avoid following the crowd. Be an engine, not a caboose.
10. Or even better, keep the original Ten Commandments.

Council Report

by Joe Messina

With the school year soon terminating, the student council has formulated some plans to close it with a bang. On the last day of school, May 25, both students and faculty members will be treated at an old fashioned barbeque to be held at Johnson Park. The dress will be optional and students are invited to eat all they can. Everyone is guaranteed a great time. What's this I hear about a faculty-students softball game, Coach?

Congratulations to the seniors who did a fine job on Senior Day. The day proved interesting, joyous and at times even beneficial to both the underclassmen and the seniors. I only hope we will be able to continue this practice in future years.

It's too bad that there will be no Prom this year. The council has tried to hold one as in past years but the response just wasn't large enough. After all you can't hold a dance when you expect only six or eight people. I'm sure the students will enjoy their excursion to New York as much. However, I believe that discontinuing the Prom was wise and perhaps a step towards the future. Why have one when no one wants it? We could use the money to do better things and accomodate more people than would have profited from a Senior Prom. Think it over. Would you like to have a prom next year?

Karshmer, Hancox, Messina, Struk Elected To New Council.

Students Select Council On Surprise Split Ticket

by Steve Hancox

In May I was elected president of the student council. This is quite an honor, and I would like to thank all those who contributed to my campaign and election. I plan to try, to the best of my ability, to get certain privileges from the University which I feel the students would enjoy and use.

I will try to get Rutgers University to allow Rutgers Prep students to use the golf course free of charge, and also to use the Rutgers rifle range for a rifle team. Swimming at the Rutgers pool is also to be considered.

Longer Lunch Period

As many students have complained of a short lunch period, one of the main issues of the campaign was a longer lunch period. This will be a major improvement in the school, and will be one of the first improvements undertaken by the student council.

The Progressive has a platform which includes a new lunch room, and a complete renovation of the Constitution of the school. The officers and class representatives will incorporate the Progressive ideas, in order to make a better school. Also, on the agenda is a new school library, which is almost a must, as our school library is not adequate.

Our new student council will, I hope, be very successful, and, I hope we will accomplish much. With the support of the students, I feel that the new Student Council will be one of the best Rutgers Preparatory has had in quite a few years. Thank you.

The Student Council elections for next year were held during the week of May 7. The newly elected officers are Steve Hancox, president; Joe Messina, vice-president; Bernard Karshmer, secretary; Dan Struk, treasurer.

Opposition Formed

Up until Tuesday 8th, there was only one party, the Progressive Party. Running on the slate were Stilwell, Messina, Karshmer, and Struk. On Tuesday 8th, Hancox started campaigning on an independent ticket. Hancox opposed Stilwell, but the other three members of the Progressive Party were unopposed. On Wednesday May 9, Dan Struk and Bernard Karshmer made their speeches. Joe Messina, the first speaker on Thursday, was followed by Vic Stilwell. Steve Hancox was permitted to speak last on Thursday. Dick Schwartz was campaign manager for the Progressive Party, and Irving Quackenboss was campaign manager for the Independent Party.

Dan Struk talked on the platform of the Progressive Party. Bernard Karshmer followed by delivering a speech on the general qualification and experience of the members of the Progressive Party. Joe Messina elaborated on the improvement suggestions of the Progressive platform.

Candidates Speak

On Thursday, Vic Stilwell spoke on the Student Council and what the Progressive Party would do for the Council. Steve Hancox's speech concerned mainly sports and intra-mural sports.

Voting was held during activities period on Friday. The election was close all the way.

LOWER SCHOOL NEWS

The Elementary School is in a flurry of excitement now. Mrs. Kehoe is directing a play, for the 7th grade, to be presented in the middle of May. It is called "Beep-beep! Clang-clang! Boop-oop-a-doop!" This humorous play has a spooky background in a old barn at night.

Cast Selected

The cast includes: John Parker, Richard Julian, Bartley Howley, Mark Levine, Andy Phelps, Marvin Cheiten, Anthony Maltese, Dickie Lipman, Barry Bronfman, Paul Fritz, Carol Heinlein, Donna Voorhees, Minda Hamelsky, Arlene DiLalo, John Lipman, John Schmitt, Bobby Mettler, and Michael Maran.

Mrs. Van Vechten showed her class, and the fifth grade, some beautiful color slides of Vermont.

Two new students entered the Lower School in April. They are Barbara Lundey of the fifth grade and Margaret Matsumoto of the first grade.

The sixth grade had a series of campaign speeches for the office of president of the United States. The main speakers were Suesy Margolis, Sasha Hourwich and Oliver Cooperman. Eisenhower won the election.

Seventh Grade Votes Too.

The seventh grade had typed sheets on which to vote, suggested by Bartley Howley and Michael Maran.

Mrs. Jaquish's and Mrs. Warr's 1st grades presented a program for their parents last week. Mrs. Kolt led the children in a series of dances. Everyone enjoyed the performance immensely.

The same faculty will be back in the Elementary School next year. The entire Elementary School is very pleased at this.

CLUB NEWS

by Kirstin Kvam

The Mythology Club

Last autumn I decided to join the Mythology Club because I had enjoyed some of the stories in the Mythology book that we had been using in Latin class.

We organized our club in November, choosing Danny Struk as president, and Arlene Greenberg as secretary. None of us knew what lay ahead of us, as most of us had never been in a Mythology Club before.

During the first few weeks, with the help of Mr. Dumarae and of our planning committee, we chose our topics from the Mythology book; however, as time went on, it became necessary for us to stray away from this book into related subjects. Religion often became the basis of our discussions, because religion plays such an important role in our daily lives. One of the discussions I enjoyed most was on the topic "What Authorities Should We Obey." This topic may not sound too interesting to you, but does each of you always know whom you should obey?

Quite recently Mr. Dumarae was kind enough to give us a few minutes of his time to tell us about Mozart. He told us how, as a child, Mozart went on many concert tours, and how his playing and music were known all over Europe, although all through his life he was poor. Mr. Dumarae also explained to us how Mozart wrote his three greatest symphonies within the course of six weeks. When our discussion ended, Mr. Dumarae played two recordings of Mozart's works for us.

Before an enthusiastic crowd of 150 people gathered in the Rutgers Prep gym Friday evening May 4, the Prep Dramatics Group presented its annual performance. Under the able direction of Mr. Dumarae the group presented The Family Circle by Anne Coulter Martens.

The play was a light comedy revolving around the gay antics of Cornelia Otis Skinner, a young girl of seventeen and her friends. The action takes place throughout the play in the livingroom of Mr. and Mrs. Skinner's Bryn Mawr home.

Finds Frat Pin

Cornelia, (Florence Schmitt) who the previous day had found a fraternity pin, is practicing lines from Shakespeare as the curtain opens. Her friend Mab (Arlene Greenberg) appears and comments that Cornelia's arch-enemy has a frat pin. Then Mab notices Cornelia's pin and is surprised but finally guesses that Cornelia found it. Enid (Clementina Vitti) arrives and begins bragging about her pin from William (Danny Struk). Finally, she realizes Cornelia has one too and Enid is curious to find out who it belongs to.

Mrs. Skinner (Merle Schiffmayer) reminds Cornelia to study for her exams because she wants Cornelia to attend Bryn Maur College in the fall. Little does she know Cornelia wants to follow in her parents' footsteps and become an actress.

Mab returns and announces that Charlie (Stephen Hancox), the boy who lost the frat pin, is on his way over because he wants his pin returned. Cornelia does not want to return it, but she prepares for his coming anyway by putting a great deal of makeup on. Charlie stops by and meets Cornelia. His opinion of her is that she is different from any other girl he has ever met.

Rehearsal Complications

The second act opens during a rehearsal of Cornelia's dramatic group. Amy (Linda Levy) is helping Mab into her costume. The girls rehearse their play but the day before, complications arise. Absent minded Grace (Suzanne Duschock) forgets to order the costumes from New York and Cornelia, while arguing with Enid, loses her voice. The group and Mrs. Skinner decide to postpone the play but Cornelia feels the play must go on. The appearance of the Skinner's maid Abby (Amy Riddering) occurs in this act.

In the third act you find out the play has gone on, but with disastrous results. Cornelia is very down-hearted and plans to run away. Charlie offers Cornelia his frat pin but she explains

by Bernard Karshmer

Stan Rosenblum, our fine catcher, has been burning up the basepaths with a sizzling .500 average. Stan's four triples, five doubles, and two home runs have brought his slugging average up among highest in the county. . . . Bob Tammaro, another hot Prepster with the stick, is batting a hot .300 for his thirty trips to the plate. He has come through with many clutch hits.

Bruce Gunkle, our freshman pitching star, has turned in some very fine varsity pitching performances this season, but due to the lack of backing from his teammates he has been unable to win a game. Bruce pitched a fine game against Pingry holding them to only one run in the first six innings. In the seventh inning, however, the roof fell in on the Prepsters as they erred their way to a seven to one defeat. He struck out twelve men in that game.

All of us on the sports staff wish to congratulate ex-Prepster, Jerry Goryczka for his fine performances on the Fordam freshman basketball team. . . . While on the subject of ex-Prepsters we would like to wish Al Murasko lots of luck at Panzer.

Just about a month ago Marty Metzger presented the championship basketball trophy to Mr. Heinlein, not long after that the boys on the squad received jackets for being state champs.

Congratulations are due to Prep's fine J.V. Baseball team. They have a perfect record of 2-0. Gunkle, Hamelsky, and Holsten have contributed to the team's success.

Prep Loses to Peddie, 16-2

Taking advantage of seven walks in the top half of the fourth inning, Peddie school erupted for 11 runs and went on to romp over Prep 16-2.

With one out in the visitor's fourth, Bob Torrone, Prep's starting hurler, walked three men to fill the bases. The Peddie clean-up man then stroked a two-bagger over the head of center-fielder Joe Messina to knock in three runs. Torrone let two more runs in before he was relieved by Bob Tammaro. Tammy, making his first appearance on the mound this year, let in 4 runs. Bruce Gunkle then came in and put out the fire after two more runs scored. Peddie scored 4 more runs in the sixth, but they were unnecessary insurance.

Sayreville Defeats Prep To Sweep Season Series

Last Tuesday the 8th, the Sayreville Bombers edged out an 8-7 decision over the Little Scarlet. Bruce Gunkle went all the way. It was his fifth loss.

Bruce Gunkle

Bob Tammaro led off the game with a solid single to left field, but failed to score. In the Bomber's half of the first, they scored five runs on three hits, two errors and a walk. The Prepsters gave up another two runs to Sayreville in the third inning. Prep finally drew blood in the top of the fourth. A three-base blast, by Stan Rosenblum, Prep's leading hitter, scored Gunkle and Messina. Carl Baratta followed with a long single to deep center-field, which scored Rosenblum.

Prep Scores 4

Prep set Sayreville down in order and came to bat again. The Little Scarlet then got to work and tallied four times before the inning was over. Bob Tammaro, Bruce Gunkle, and Joe Messina got on base and Rosenblum laced a single. Then Tom Molskow unloaded a single which scored Messina and Rosenblum. Bob Torrone also reached base, but the Prep hitters were unable to bring him around.

Winning Run Scores

Bruce Gunkle allowed only one run to score in Sayreville's half of the fifth. But one run seemed to be the margin needed as neither team scored for the remainder of the game. It was Sayreville's first game, in which their ace pitcher Bob Witkowski did not hurl. Bob or "Whitey" threw the season opener against us winning it by an 8-2 decision.

Prep has not won a varsity game this year, but most of their losses were by one or two runs. The team has come close to victory many times, being sparked by Stan Rosenblum, Bob Tammaro, Tom Molskow, and Bob Torrone. Stan is now hitting at an even .500 clip.

J. V.'s Show Promise In Winning 2 Games

by Steve Holsten

The Prep Jay-Vee baseball team has started off on the right foot this season. So far they have played three games, winning two behind their ace hurler Ken Miller. The team also has six Varsity men, they are: Joe Messina, John Maffet, Steve Holsten, Bobby Myer, Bobby Eber, and Mel Hamelsky.

The Prepsters started off by beating Jamesburg, twelve to eleven. The Prep nine was leading from the very start and Miller stayed in until the last inning, when Walt Campbell came in to relieve him.

Prep Beats Linwood

The second win was against Linwood Junior High. Prep again got off to a good start by scoring three runs in the first inning. Then, Linwood came up in the second and scored five, but the Prep nine retaliated in the fourth with five more to go ahead eight to five. Linwood scored two more runs but the Prep battery gave no more and the Prepsters won eight to seven.

Feature Column

by Merle Schiffmayer

Most of the programs presented on television have little intrinsic value. Almost as soon as they have been presented they take their places in the ranks of the forgotten. When a program such as the one presented by Max Leibman on Saturday night, the twelfth of May is offered, it makes a deep impression upon its television audience.

This program concerned itself with the music of George Gershwin, one of America's best loved masters of modern musical style. In the short span of this genius's life he wrote music in profusion that is bound, because of its universal appeal, to live through the ages along with that of other immortals. His music, typically American, is loved by people of all countries including Russia, which went wild over a recent performance of his opera "Porgy and Bess" by an American troupe.

Popular Songs Included

The television program included such numbers as "Someone to Watch Over Me", "I've got Rhythm", "Love Walked In", "Foggy Day", "Fascinating Rhythm", and the rendition of "Rhapsody in Blue" plus selections from "Porgy and Bess".

Alfred Drake was master of ceremonies and he along with such notables as Lawrence and Camella Winters, Ethel Merman, Lori Arden, and Cab Calloway interpreted some of Gershwin's numbers in song while Peter Canlow and Harrison Muller interpreted numbers in dance. The grand finale came with Eugene List's beautiful interpretations of the composer's "Rhapsody in Blue".

This was a program well worth a second presentation.

Mr. Daviet Forms New Club To Support State's Program

by Mark Leavitt

Now that warm weather is here, we must be especially careful with our nation's forests. They are a big asset in our development.

A lot of folks will go camping this year, and certain rules should be followed. Always clear your campsite. Last Autumn's leaves catch fire easily. Build your fire in a circle of rocks. If you smoke, break your matches and grind out your cigarettes. Before you leave, pour water on your fire, and make sure it's out.

Club To Be Founded

A "Conservation Club" will be established this fall. It will be small, and opened only to seniors. Reforestation and the study of Conservation will constitute a large part of the club's makeup.

Mr. Daviet, who will advise the club, has several activities planned. Two camping trips will be held, the first in October, at Stokes Forest, and the second in the spring. Girls may go on these trips if they wish.

There will also be a number of fishing and nature trips. The club may also go up to Hackettstown to see the fish hatcheries.

Remember that our forests and wildlife are the lifeblood of our great country. Keep your wits about you in a forest and be careful with fire.

SCIENCE NEWS

by Joe Messina

Four of Prep's best science students were honored last week end by being selected by Mr. Daviet to take part in the Science Day Program held annually at Rutgers. Each took an examination in his field to try to win a scholarship to Rutgers. Unfortunately, none were able to place. Bill Romig, Howard Tobin, Joe Messina and Richard Schwartz represented Prep by taking the exams in engineering, physics, chemistry and biology respectively. There were many interesting exhibits there and a good time was had by all.

Meanwhile in Oklahoma, Freddy Schwartzman attended the National Science Fair. He presented his scintillation machine for counting radioactive Carbon 14 in the air. He, too, was unable to place in the money.

she is not ready to wear it and plans to try her luck in the theater. Just as she is leaving, her father (Howard Tobin) returns from New York and announces he has found a part for her in summer stock. Thus ends a delightful situation of the trials and tribulations of a young actress to be.

The play was directed and performed under the leadership of Mr. Dumarae who has had previous experience in directing Prep plays.

The stage and lighting was planned and executed by the stage crew under the excellent supervision of Mr. Moffat.

In the wings, familiar with every line, were the prompters, Gail Duschock and Marian Veale. Barbara Brennan and Robert Eber were the two runners.
