EXAMINATION HINTS.

- Before the Exam:
1. Start your review now.
 2. Review a little each day in every subject.
 3. Review the way you will be tested; i. e. Since the exams will be written, you should write your review.
 4. Gather all the equipment you will need for writing the exam.
- During the Exam:
1. Scan the whole exam and plan your attack upon it.
 2. Answer the easiest questions first.
 3. Be as brief and factual as possible.
 4. Work quietly and comfortably, thinking before you write.
 5. Relax occasionally.
 6. Save the last 10 minutes to check your paper.
- After the Exam:
- Forget it! Begin your final review for the next exam.

THEATRE CLUB

It is about two months since we started digging up the old theatre club. Now that the digging is about complete we are pleased to report that 46 people have signed the list and we are ready to begin lining up shows.

These are the details that we have found out to date. A train to and from New York would cost $2.60 while a chartered bus only $1.25 round trip. The show tickets will cost $1.20 apiece (balcony). The shows that we plan to go to see are to be decided by you who signed. A list of about 6 or 8 shows will be passed around, and you will check first, second, and third choice. Because of the difficulty of getting tickets, we will have to work the choices this way. Soon after midyear exams a meeting of the club will be held to settle all final details.

The Argo spotlight, shining around like a pinie looking for a deer, found one, and his name is Dave Wurtzel.

Dave is a fellow who's activities are just about taken for granted. Other than major sports he is in just about everything that comes along. An excellent electrician, scholar, and chief of the student kitchen corps. He is very well liked by his fellow members of the human race.

Hats off to you Dave, and best of luck in everything you undertake.

On January 31, at 8:40 A.M. the first mid-term exam will start.

There will be two sets of exams given every day from January 31 to February 4. The second exam will start at 11 o'clock and end at 1.

There should be a lot of effort put on these examinations, for they count one-half of the term grade.

THINGS NOTICED----

Mr. Heinlein's NEW lab coat; worn only during quiet periods.

Mr. Downie, compared to Cyrano. Irwin Roth's new 10-pound waist line.

The Blake-Johnson perpetual controversy about nothing.

Kenyon Howland's brand new punch lines. (they'll kill you.)

The odor of the Gamma House basement after the pipes are lit.

THINGS PRESCRIBED.

Bustless chalk trays for Mr. Blake's arm.

A wishing well for Mr. Downie. Some permanent fuses for the Boarding school.

Lengthened fire drills for the entire school.

A test detector for Mr. Oneal's classes.

A filing cabinet for Powell's and Hess's women.

NAME YOUR POISON

Chances are the Queens Restaurant would go broke if Prep wasn't just across the street. We won't go so far as to say the food is bad; but, it has been known for some time now that old horses have a better chance of becoming one of their hamburgers than a bottle of glue. Also, there's a funeral parlor almost next door. Their french fried potatoes have been known to wear as well as leather, and when treated with catsup they will car surpass them for durability. Perhaps your tastes run along different lines. There are boiled ham sandwiches; it's doubtful whether just the ham or the whole sandwich is boiled. Another exclusive specialty is the coke that never sees carbonated water. This only mentions a few of the tasty "bargains" you can get at Queens. Of course this has all been in fun, because if things were that bad, we wouldn't go there, or would we?

FROSH BASKETBALL

The yearlings, who eventually may become the Prep stars in the years to come, are now learning the fundamentals of basketball. Within the week, Coach Housman expects to have a squad capable of scrimmaging the J. V. reserves.

Boys who reported in the first week of practice are: J. Allen, R. Bogan, L. Culver, J. Edgar, H. Forsmith, H. K. Howland, E. Janata, M. Ohrbach, J. Rothschild, G. Van Vochten, J. Wait, J. Williams, H. Williamson; manager, B. Rineberg.

So far they have only learned fundamentals such as: passing, dribbling, shooting. We all wish the young basketeters the best of luck.

"MACBETH" AT PRINCETON

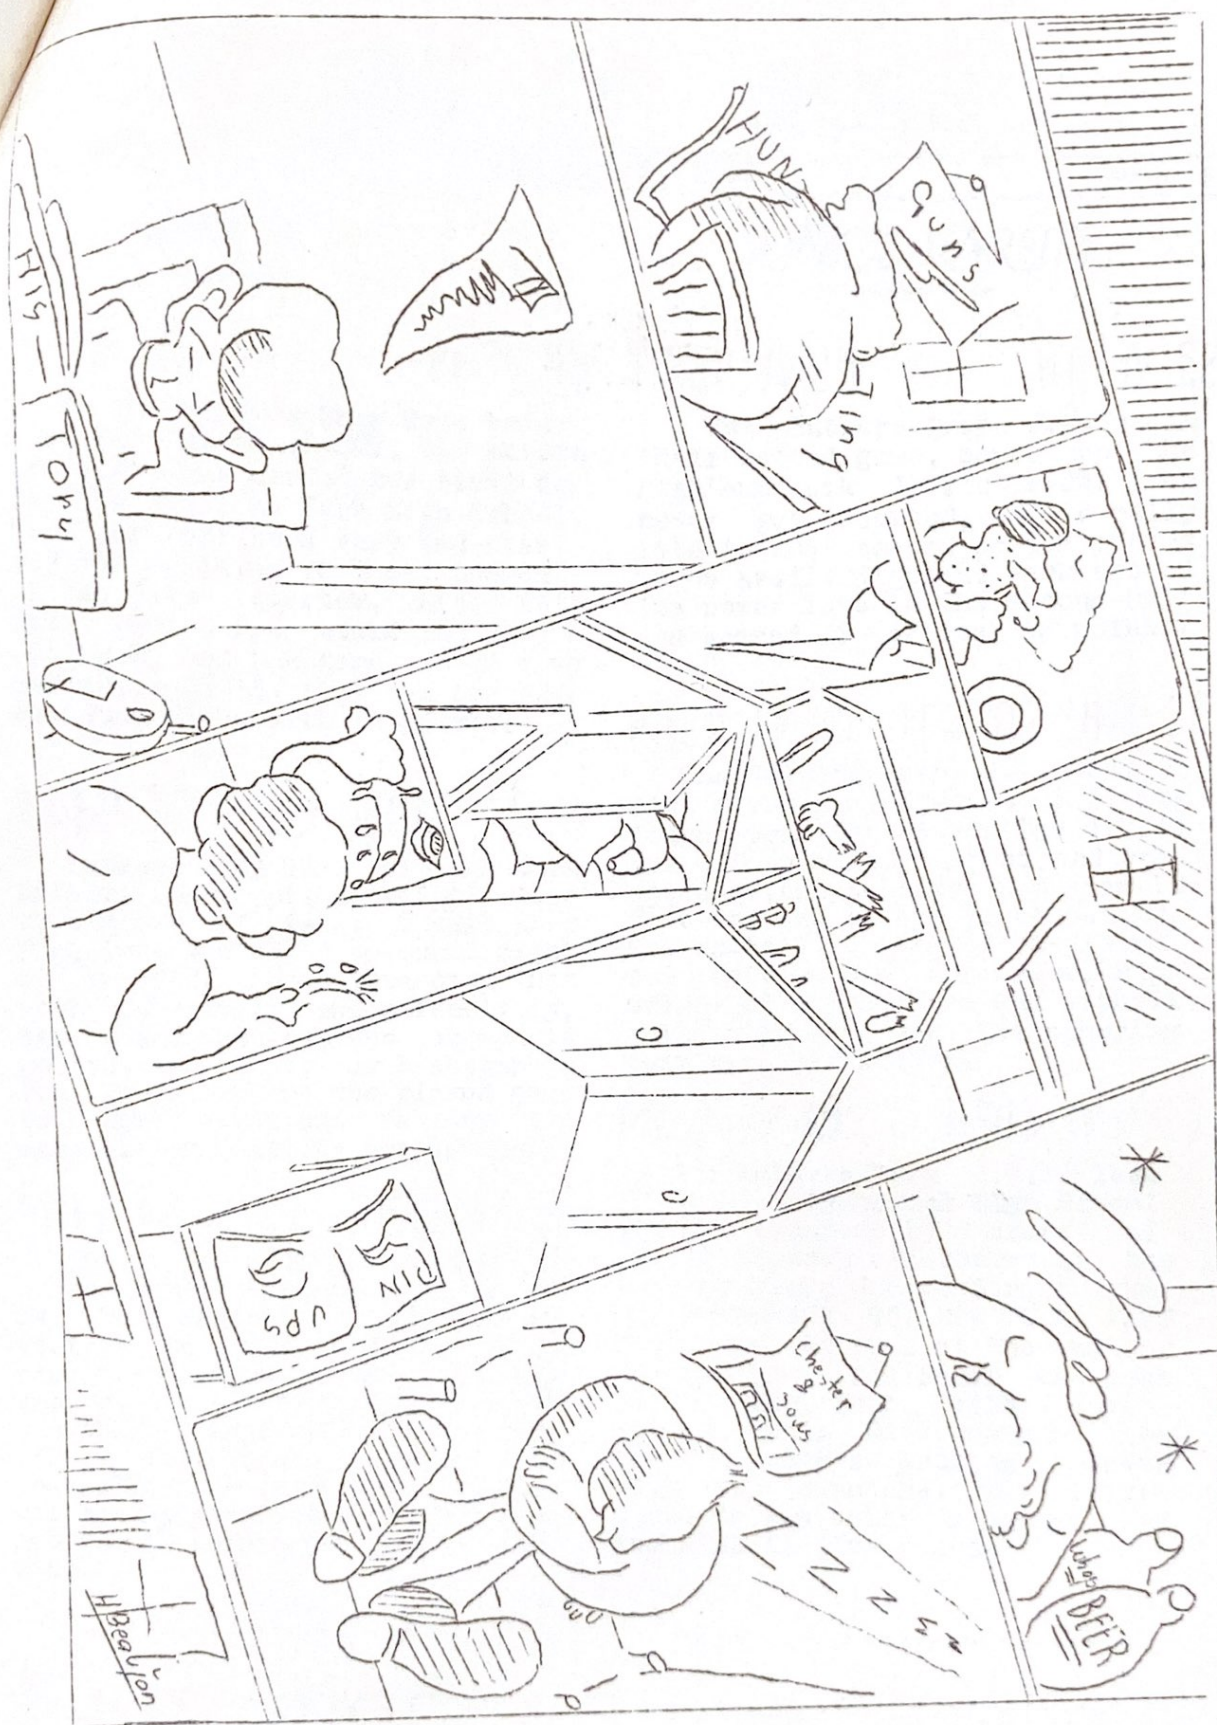

Last Monday night, the Margaret Webster production of William Shakespeare's "Macbeth" was given in Princeton's McCarter Theatre. It was for the benefit of the N.J. C. student center fund.

The production had two nearly continuous acts, lasting approximately 2½ hours. There were a few things that were not entirely necessary in a theatre of this size, such as the smallness of the stage set, and the use of recorded, instead of live music.

All in all, it was very well done considering that the company is always traveling, and they had previously given a matinee that day.

VARSITY

PREP 35

PARK 45

In the Rutgers Prep Gym, before a packed crowd of 200, the maroon and white was handed its first defeat by Highland Park High School. Prep got off to a very bad start and was trailing 16-5 at the end of the first quarter. After this fatal period Prep could not make a comeback, and the game ended with the score 45-35. High man for Prep was John Hines with 13 points.

PREP 39

ST. BENEDICT'S 34

Rutgers Prep in a nip and tuck affair, upset St. Benedict's Prep by a score of 39-34. Though they won, Prep was far from what might be expected. The outstanding man both offensively and defensively, was Frank Tumulty, who scored 14 points, and 4 out of 5 attempted foul shots. Others who played good ball were Hines and Vasvary who made 11 and 8 points respectively.

PREP 48

NEWARK 34

The maroon and white easily out scored Newark Academy, winning 48-34. This was not only the second victory in a row, but the third time that Frank Tumulty was high scorer, and outstanding player. He was able to rack up 20 points making 7 field goals, and 6 foul shots. The high scorer for the minute men made only ten points. Also scoring 10 points was Prep's John Hines.

JUNIOR VARSITY

PREP JV 29

H.P. JV 52

The Rutgers Prep J.V.'s in their second game, bowed to the Highland Park J.V.'s 52-29. Prep never got started, and a rally late in the second period proved to no avail. Highland Park showed its power late in the second half and scored 36 of its 52 points.

PREP JV 35 LEADING SHOP 20

The Rutgers Prep J.V. team in its first game against a city league team won 35-20. The J.V.'s got off to a fast start, and were ahead of the Leading Shop team 10 5 at the end of the first period. The whole J.V. team of 15 played, and only 4 did not score. High scorer of the day was Fox with 11 while high man for the opposing team was Phil Dexter.

PREP JV 48

NBHS-JV-R 29

The Rutgers Prep J.V.'s lost to the New Brunswick High School Jay Vee reserves by a score of 29-16 Tuesday afternoon at the Rutgers Prep, George Street gym. New Brunswick GOT OFF TO A FAST start and led 12-1 at the end of the quarter. Lou Fedor was high scorer for Prep with seven points, while Dick Jochman led New Brunswick's scoring parade with six counters. The little scarlets now boast a record of two wins in five starts.
