LEONARD SPENCE HAS BRILLIANT SEASON AS SWIMMER FOR PREP

State, National, and International Records
Were Broken by Natator—Tells Interviewer Future Plans

By WILLIAM C. CLOVER

A brilliant trail of shattered pool records—state, national and international, marks the swathe that Leonard Spence, swimming for Rutgers Prep, cut in natatorial circles this season. He broke the world record in the 220-yard breaststroke twice this year, and as a member of the unique Spence brother medley relay team, he aided in lowering the international time in the 300 yard event last month.

At no time this season did Leonard meet serious opposition in his breaststroke event, despite the fast company that he kept. Scholastic records in the breaststroke and freestyle are at new lows, due to his work for Prep in 1931. Next year he returns, a sure first place in whatever meet and event he enters.

Brothers His Teachers

Leonard was born in British Guiana where as a young boy he spent many hours in the water, gaining confidence, strength and ease. In this fashion while under the expert tutelage of his brothers, Spence developed the form which early this year caused swimming Coach James Reilly to say, "His breaststroke is beautiful, I can

Rutgers Prep Glee Club To Open Season With Two Radio Broadcasts This Month

The first appearance of the Rutgers Prep Glee Club this year will be in a broadcast over WAAM, on Tuesday evening, April 28, it was announced by the director, Mr. Edmund M. McClosky. The following afternoon, from 4 to 4:30, the Club will broadcast over WOR. The annual concert will be given in the Presbyterian Community House on May 1, at 8:15 P. M., at which time the Club will be assisted by David Blair McClosky and his wife, Maurine Palmer, concert singers of Boston, Bulletins announcing this event have been prepared, and are being mailed to parents, Alumni, and friends of the school. There will also probably be a broadcast over station WJZ a little later.

The Quartette, consisting of Gay, Pinckney, Sherman, and Faulkingham, is expected to be a feature of the concerts. The other members of the Club are I. Gindin, Niederstein, Kraft, Rosenberg, H. Brown, Greene, Lentz, McCormack, Parker, C. Smith, Clover, Davis, McCabe, Thompson, Pettit, Schenck, Vedder, Wheeler, and H. Wood.

This is the second season of the Glee Club, which was started by Mr. McClosky.

MORRISTOWN NINE TO MEET PREP TOMORROW

Lineup For Opening Game Of Season Still Not Set

Coach Charles H. Brown has sent his Rutgers Prep baseball squad through strenuous practice for the last two weeks in order to have it ready for its initial contest tomorrow against Morristown School at Morristown. No definite line-up has been chosen, although it is expected that Em Raab will be on the mound at the commencement of play, with Eddie Wood behind the plate. The infield will probably consist of Sorce, Passanante, Strapp, and Sheldon. Coach Brown is undecided about the outfield, for which he will choose from Najavits, Cain, Boyarsky, Whittaker, Nagy, Kraft, Kennedy, and Barcalow.

Ineligibles Have Chance

Coach Brown believes that those boys who previously had been declared ineligible will be able to partake in four games. This will greatly strengthen the team, as the ineligible: Grossman, Hemerdä, O'Donnell, Capano, and Sheldon, have experience. They have been unable to play for Prep owing for the most part, to the eligibility rule of the state league which does not permit a transfer from other schools to play for twenty weeks. If arrangements can be made with schools outside of the league Prep will be able to present a fairly strong front. Without the five men it is a case of playing with only one veteran in the lineup and poor prospects for the season.

The game tomorrow will begin promptly at 3:00 p. m.

LINDERS, DAVIS, HALL WIN IN SCHOOL TRACK

Relay Won By Harvard In First Leg of Intramurals

Harvard led Yale, 22-27 in the first part of the intramural track meet at Neilson Field Tuesday as this week's Argo went to press. The weight events, high and broad jump, hurdles, pole vault, and 220-yard run were completed yesterday afternoon.

Linders of Yale took the 100-yard sprint on the strength of his trial heat time which was 10 3-5. Alexander was scored second with Jones of Harvard and Kott of Yale third and fourth respectively.

Mile Was Close

The mile run was very closely contested between Davis of Harvard and Sherman of Yale. Sherman led over almost the entire distance, but was unable to withstand a last minute sprint by Davis, who finished in 5:02, against 5:04 for his adversary. Smith and Miller, both of Harvard, took the remaining two places. Hall of Harvard won the 440 in 62 7-10 seconds, with Thompson of Yale second. The 880 went to Linders of Yale, whose time was 2:12 5-10. The Harvard relay team of Mayglothling, Jorgensen, Piscicelli and Klauer had little difficulty in overcoming the Yale combination of Kott, Wheeler, Whittaker, and Thompson.

Summary: 100-yard sprint, Linders (Y) first; Alexander (H), second; Jones (H), third; Kott (Y), fourth. Time 10 3-5.

Mile run, Davis (H), first; Sherman (Y),

Second Reformed Church on College Avenue, April 12. Besides Dr. Harrison's address, the students heard the Glee Club of Central College in Pella, Iowa, which is now making an Eastern Tour.

More than twenty-five Prep students were present for Dr. Harrison's address, which was a vivid portrayal of the conditions under which Christian missionaries work in a fanatical Moslem country. Dr. Harrison told many anecdotes from his own experience, illustrating the character of the Arabs, and the difficulty that the missionaries have in carrying on their work. The speech was rich in his own peculiar style of humor, which served to make it much more concrete and lifelike than a more formal address would have been.

Dr. Harrison is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and received his medical degree from John Hopkins University. He has served for about twenty years as a missionary to Arabia, and has written an authoritative book entitled "The Arab at Home." Very few white men have travelled

OFFICIAL RECORDS NEEDED

The other day some members of Ye Dial staff, searching for basketball scores, found that the records of the last season were incomplete. It is known that last year's basketball records and the football records over a longer period are likewise incomplete, and the same may be true in other sports.

Such a condition is to be regretted. Athletic records should be carefully kept as a matter of historical interest, for reference and for comparison with other seasons. It is customary to publish complete results of the year in athletics in Ye Dial, but even that will be difficult this year, so fragmentary are the records that the editors have in their possession.

We do not intend to find fault with the managers or others connected with the athletic administration. We blame no individual—only the system. No one of the managerial staff knows exactly what his duty is, and as a result the work is inefficiently performed. This year several appointments to managements were not made before the opening of the season.

It might be well to defer appointments until the end of the season, and award the title to the one who has worked the hardest. This is possible now that all schedules, even in minor sports, are made by the athletic director. But by all means some student should be appointed at the beginning of the season, furnished with a suitable book for keeping permanent records, and charged with the duty of recording the complete data on every game in every Rutgers Prep sport. The managerial staffs have failed to do it.

The History of Rutgers Prep

School Opened in 1768 Under Direction of the Trustees of Queens College—During Revolutionary War, Work Was Carried On in Somerville—Early Rectors Were Also Professors in the College

Edited by Headmaster William P. Kelly

PART II

On November 10, 1766, a committee of six citizens, three of whom were trustees of the new college, signed an announcement which appeared in the New York Mercury and in the Philadelphia Observer on February 1, 1768 as follows: "Notice is hereby given that a school is erected in New Brunswick in New Jersey under the inspection of the subscribers, in which the learned languages and mathematics are carefully and accurately taught by Caleb Cooper, recommended from Nassau Hall (Princeton) an able and well accomplished tutor in these and other branches of literature." The notice gave full particulars of the considerations which would commend the school to patrons.

In 1770 the college received an amended charter, but the work of the school continued on without interruption from the former date to the present time.

During the Revolutionary War the school work was much interfered with by the proximity of the enemy. It was deemed advisable to remove for a time from New Brunswick. Accordingly in the New Jersey Gazette, (1778) published at Trenton, a notice is found to the effect that "The business of Queens College, formerly carried on in New Brunswick, is begun at North Branch of Raritan, etc., etc." Appended to this is the following:

"May 17, 1778. The public are informed that a Grammar School is open at Raritan, (now Somerville) Somerset County, where decent accommodations for young gentlemen can be had at the moderate price of 30 pounds per annum.

(These pounds were not English currency, but were equivalent to about $2.50 each.) The faculty of Queens College, having the care and direction of the school will make it their particular part to attend to the education of the youth. Apply to John Bogert, at Raritan."

In 1780 the school is found back at its old home in New Brunswick, as the following notice shows:

"Hillsborough, May 25, 1780.—The vacation of Queens College at Hillsborough, in the county of Somerset, and of the Grammar School in the city of New Brunswick, is expired; and the business of each is again commenced. Good lodging may be procured in both places at as low a rate as in any part of the State. By order of the Faculty. John Taylor, Clerk, pro tem."

A large number of rectors of the school held office for short terms, from one to five or six years. About these men very little is known, and the records of graduates of that period are also missing. The rectors were either ministers or professors in the college, and one of them, the Rev. Cornelius D. Westbrook, left the editorship of a church paper at the call of "Divine Providence" to accept this appointment. He informed his friends that he had taken a large and commodious house on George Street, formerly occupied by the Bank of New Brunswick, where he was ready to take boarders.

LEONIDAS.

An Original Story by Paul Cook

CHAPTER III

A SPARTAN BOY'S DAY

Next morning the boys went to the river and had a plunge. After this there was a rough combing of the hair with the fingers.

The Iren now said, "Now line up for a foot-race."

After a couple of races a trumpet blew and the older boys taught boxing. Leonidas didn't like this. He liked the boys so much he did not like to hurt them. Leonidas was glad when a trumpet blew. This meant the older men were going to drill and the boys now watched. After this everybody had breakfast.

That afternoon the boys of Leonidas' company went to the temple of Achilles. In the morning the Iren had told the boys that the next day there was to be a struggle between two teams of boys. They went to the temple to pray to Achilles for help.

CHAPTER IV

AT THE PLANE-TREE GROVE

The day of struggle Leonidas' company was up at sunrise. Then they went through their morning drilling and had breakfast. Then the company in the afternoon went to the Plane-Tree Grove.

CAPANO HEADS MARCH HONOR ROLL; LIST HAS FOUR MEMBERS LESS

Seniors Again Lead School; Only 26 Students Mentioned; W. Beardslee Is Second

The March honor roll of 26 students shows a decrease of four members from the February list with the seniors again leading. The freshmen dropped two members and the seniors and sophomores one apiece.

Samuel Capano, a senior tops the list with 91 while William Beardslee, a sophomore follows close behind with 90.75. Three seniors take the next places; James Greene, third with 89.75, John Beardslee, fourth with 89.5, and John Lentz, fifth with 89.

The four class leaders are Samuel Capano for the seniors, Richard Nebel with 86.4 for the juniors, William Beardslee for the sophomores and Russell Gindin, with 86 and no opposition for the freshmen.

Seniors: Samuel Capano, 91; James Greene 89.75; John Beardslee 89.5; John Lentz 89; Robert Strong, 88.5; Romney Wheeler, 88; Russell Sherman, 87.75; Harper Ogborn, 86.25; Roger Gay, 86.2; William Teichman, 85.25; Richard Elliott, 83.75; Arnold Orgensen, 82.75; William Clover, 82.5; Harold Jensen, 81.25; Norman Davis, 80.25; Arthur Van Winkle, 80. Juniors: Richard Nebel, 86.4; Francis Strapp, 82.5; Noble Warren, 82.25; Charles Smith, 80.75; George Parker, 80.

Sophomores: William Beardslee, 90.75; Augustus DeVoe, 83; Robert Howard, 82.25; Richard Niederstein, 80.75.

Freshmen: Russell Gindin, 86.

TENNIS PRACTICE STARTS

Tennis practice started only recently, the delay being due to the bad condition of the courts. Nevertheless the candidates for the team have already displayed encouraging form. Manager Kott has arranged a tournament to pick the best players, but it will not be played until the men are in the best possible pre-season form.

LAST PICTURES SNAPPED

The last pictures for Ye Dial were taken on Friday, April 10, when a representative of White's Studio in New York took pictures of the honor students, Dial Board, and tennis, golf, and baseball teams. The informal snapshots, taken by W. Beardslee and W. Whalen, have already been finished, as has almost all the editorial work, only a few senior write-ups being left. Roger C. Gay, the editor, said that he expected to have the book out by the first of June.

NEW BOOKKEEPER

Owing to Miss Terwilliger's temporary absence, a bookkeeper, Mr. Clinton C. Backey, of Maplewood, has been secured. Miss Terwilliger is reported slowly improving.

TRACK TRY OUT HELD AS PENN RELAYS LOOM

Coach To Choose Quartette From Six Leaders In Trials

Bob Linders ran 350 yards in 40.5 seconds, and Bill Clover came close behind him in time trials held last Saturday on the Neilson Field cinder track. Jim Greene, Russ Sherman, Tom O'Donnell, and Larry Alexander followed Linders and Clover in that order. Norm Davis was unable to run because of an injured foot.

Coach Donald J. McGinn declared that the participants in the Penn Relays will be chosen from this group, along with a substitute. Rutgers Prep will enter the one-mile relay in the Prep School Class, each man running one quarter mile.

The Relays are sponsored by the University of Pennsylvania, and will be held at Philadelphia on Friday, April 24, and Saturday, the 25th, with Prep running on the latter date.

Although the Relays are classic events in scholastic track circles, this will be the first time in five years that Rutgers Prep will be represented by a team. Other meets this spring will include a triangular event with South River and St. Peter's High Schools and a dual meet with Princeton Prep in New Brunswick.

RIDING GROUP FORMED BY 12 PREP STUDENTS

Hare and Hound Races To Be Held; Equestrians Meet Fridays

Horseback riding is offered this year for the first time in Rutgers Prep and already twelve boys have signified their intention of becoming steady patrons of the sport. Through an arrangement with the Hamilton Riding School in charge of Miss Jessie Fiske, special rates are offered the Prep group which will ride once a week. Dick Niederstein is student manager of the group and Mr. and Mrs. C. Lloyd Neal ride with the students as faculty representatives.

Although some of the boys are beginners they are expected to ride with some form with a few weeks practice. The remainder of the group consists of experienced riders.

The first to report were James Thompson, Bud Havey, Bonham Head, Harvey Wood and Willard Schenck. A few have not yet received their riding clothes but by next week the entire group is expected to trot out with full membership.

The Prep period is from 3:00 to 4:00, and from 4:00 to 5:00 p. m. every Friday. After the boys have attained sufficient experience, they will take part in a treasure hunt, hare and hound races and other competitions.

TUITION RAISED

Tuition for the year 1931-32 will be slightly higher than it has been for the past five years. Due to the school adding two teachers to the faculty in the past year, and contemplating further increase, the change is $50 for Trap boys and $25 for Day boys. Students now attending the school may, however, be registered at the old rate, which is $1,150 for Trap students and $325 for Day students.

GOLF PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Practice Now Held For Squad On Country Club Links

The golf season officially started this week when the Prep squad began practice on the eighteen-hole course of the New Brunswick Country Club. Charles Forney, captain of last year's team, is acting as temporary manager, and is training the squad for the first match.

Of the dozen candidates, Forney, Whitehead, Klauer, and Whalen play the best games, although the starting team is by no means definite, according to Forney. "With so many veterans from last year's squad reporting this year, I believe that our coming golf season will be one of the best that we have ever had," he said.

SENIOR DANCE, MAY 8, IS EARLY THIS YEAR

Annual Event Put Ahead; Plans Are Made For Weekend

The annual Senior Dance will be held Friday, May 8, which is earlier than customary, since the University has been given the use of the Gymnasium the day before Commencement, the usual time of the Dance.

Trap students will be permitted to bring guests from their home towns for this affair, and one house of the Trap will be reserved for them.

The program for the week-end, as tentatively planned by the school, will include a tea dance in the Headmaster's house. The dance in the evening will take place in the Gymnasium, which will be specially decorated. Connie Atkinson's orchestra has been secured to provide music.

do nothing more with it." Coach Reilly's enthusiasm proved to be well founded.

Started Last Summer

Spence began his career of record-busting last summer when he took the 400 meter senior national outdoor breaststroke record from his brother Walter. Back in New York bearing the badge of the N. Y. A. C. he broke a whole series of indoor marks. First the 220 yard and 200 yard junior Metropolitan breaststroke times were shattered, then he repeated his record making work in the same events in the senior Metropolitan championships. Following that he established the junior Metropolitan freestyle mark for 220 yards at Yonkers, N. Y. New Record At Chicago

At the close of the winter swimming season with Prep, Lenny went to Chicago where he set a new world record in the senior national indoor 220 yard breaststroke. He lowered the time of Tsuruta, a Japanese swimmer, from 2:45 2-5 to 2:44 2-5.

Spence will work during the summer except for a brief period during which he expects to travel.

ALUMNUS WINS PRIZE

Olsey '29 Awarded First In Newspaper Competition At Cornell

Herbert G. Olsey, of Port Washington, New York, a graduate of Rutgers Prep in the class of 1929, has been awarded a prize in a contest for students at Cornell University, where he is now studying, sponsored by the Utica Sun. He was one of twelve students selected from over 3,000 for competition in essay writing for "Berry Patches," a student column.

Olsey, whose essay was selected as the best, received a generous cash prize and the editorship of the school section of the Utica Sun.

Olsey graduated from the Port Washington Public School at the age of twelve and entered Rutgers Prep, finishing a full College Preparatory Course in three years and becoming a member of Cum Laude as well. He entered Cornell at sixteen years, and is at eighteen, the youngest student ever to compete in the contest.

He will definitely return to Rutgers Prep next year and for a year or two more until he graduates. He will then enter Rutgers University.

Eight members of the Argo staff who visited the plant of The New York Times on March 27, had an experience not usually afforded groups of this kind when John H. The party that drove into New York consisted of J. Beardslee, W. Beardslee, Strong, Clover, Pinckney, Niederstein, I. Gindin, and Virgin.
