

KOLBAY WINS! - WIDE MARGIN

New President Asserts Role For Student Body

by Michael Kolbay '63

As I see it, the president of the Student Council has two main responsibilities, presiding over Student Council meetings and representing the members of the student body.

The first can be done by almost anyone. Representing the student body, on the other hand, is of primary importance. Many candidates for various council offices have made long speeches in which they elaborated on their many qualifications for representing the members of the student body, yet they seem to have missed the most important one.

Has Qualification

This is a very simple qualification which I happen to have; I myself am a member of the student body.

Many candidates have also made promises as to what they will do for you if they are elected. I am not going to make any promises because I feel that any changes in the way that the Council represents the students should come from the students and not from the Council.

Council Guides Thinking

I feel that the Council's purpose is not to do the student body's thinking for it, but rather to guide the student body's thinking along constructive paths.

I believe that the Student Council cannot exist as a separate entity. I feel that if it is to function properly it must be an integral part of the student body, run by the students, for the students.

Council Ends Year With Many Jobs Accomplished

by Patricia Drew '63

The present Student Council ends the year by leaving many innovations behind. By the end of the year, the Council hopes to have a column about the School in the Perth Amboy newspaper.

Campaign Program Increased

Recommendations for rules governing the Student Council elections had been handed to the faculty for review. A question-and-answer period, in which students would be able to ask questions of the candidates about their plans for fulfilling their offices, has been approved to supplement the traditional campaign speeches. Dolores Resta '63, president of the junior class, heads the planning for the Prom.

Contacts Other Schools

The Student Council has sent letters to twenty-four other small college preparatory schools, suggesting that a group be formed to discuss the problems of student government in this type of school.

The list of schools includes boys', girls', and coeducational institutions in New Jersey. Although the largest one enrolls three hundred students, and some have fewer students than Rutgers Preparatory School, most are about the size of this school. Several schools have already responded and shown their interest.

Alerts Former Aims

Through the Student Council's three committees: the Dance Committee, the International Fund Committee, and the Volunteer Work Committee, over two-thirds of the student body have been brought into active participation in school concerns.

The Council, which had planned for an exchange student, has decided to give $180 of the International Fund to the Foster Parents' Plan, through which the School would adopt and support a foreign child. The remaining $270 stays in the Fund.

Deutsch, Schaffer, & Peachey Take Other Council Positions

by Dolores Resta '63

Michael Kolbay '63 is the new president of the Student Council of the Rutgers Preparatory School. Barbara Deutsch '63 is vice-president, Barbara Schaffer '64 holds the position of secretary, and Raymond Peachey '65 is the new treasurer.

Kolbay and Deutsch were never threatened by the other candidates, Kolbay being the only candidate to win his office by a majority.

Tight Races

Although Kolbay and Deutsch won easily, Schaffer and Peachey won only after tight races. Schaffer jumped off to a big lead strong enough to withstand the last strong voting for James Gunkle '64.

Peachey took the lead from Michael Gottlieb '65 after 110 of the 146 ballots cast had been counted. He won by a narrow margin after the lead had changed hands five times in the last 36 votes.

Kolbay To Serve

Kolbay's speech indicated his willingness to serve the School, although he has never held a position of the Council before. Rather than propose a platform, he stated that he would work with ideas the student body itself proposes.

Deutsch commended the achievements of this year's Council and expressed her desire to continue worthwhile projects started this year.

Officers Make Proposals

Schaffer hoped for an improvement in communication between the Council and the student body. Peachey emphasized the role of the treasurer is casting a representative vote in Council matters.

Other candidates were: president, Howard Ulan '63, Karen Kane '63; vice-president, Carol Hutner '63, Douglas Kennett '63; secretary, Ralph Rosenberg '64, Gunkle; treasurer, Barbara Tomkinson '65, David Heinlein '65, Gottlieb.

Take Side Step Away: Memento of RPS Past

The step to the side entrance of the Rutgers Preparatory School building was removed on May 2. The stone will be placed somewhere at the new Elm Farm Campus. Its exact location is undecided but is open to suggestions from both students and alumni.

Since 1869

The stone has been at the School building since 1869. It was set at the same time that the back side, the top floor, the stairs and the lower were added. The step was worn down by the boarding students coming to school from the dormitories, which were located near the present Rutgers University Library.

Alumni Help

Mr. Richard C. Hill '21 and Mr. John H. Beckman '21 contacted Dr. David M. Heinlein, headmaster, to tell him they were interested in preserving the step. Mr. Hill and Mr. Beckman donated the money to defray the cost of removing the stone.

They hope to see increased interest in the School on the part of their fellow alumni.

Construct Roads At Lower School

The new facilities at Elm Farm are in various phases of development.

At present the C. J. Pardon Co. is working to put in the new road system. The traffic pattern has been altered significantly to keep vehicles away from the school buildings. Construction is also being done on the bus loading areas on the Easton Ave. side of the campus.

Finish Playing Fields

The athletic fields have all been completed with the exception of the baseball diamond. Plans have also been made to equip the rear section of the carriage house, which is not currently being used, with lockers and showers. A well is being drilled to provide water for the showers.

Colgate Leaves in August

The Colgate-Palmolive Company plans to vacate the upper school building sometime in August.

Seniors Replace Faculty For Day

The annual Senior Day was held on May 11. Each senior had the advantage of teaching at least one class.

Seniors Gain Experience

The function of this day was to give the seniors experience in teaching. Each senior had scheduled classes to attend.

The seniors also ran the assemblies. President Leo Motiuk took Dr. David M. Heinlein's place, and vice-president Laird Klingler acted as Mr. A. Z. Holley.

All seniors had the privileges which the faculty usually has. They stood at the back of the study hall and made announcements while the teachers took their seats.

Raid Third Floor

Motiuk and Klingler raided the third floor during lunch hour. They were disturbed by some of their findings and warned the offenders against a repetition of what they found.

Elm Farm was endangered by two forest fires during the recent dry spell. Starting along Demott Lane, the first fire jumped Canal Road, but firemen prevented more than one small corner of the campus from being burned.

Two dozen recently-set-in trees were destroyed, but fortunately no other damage was sustained.

Prom Decorations Stay Dark Secret

Today is your last chance to hand in Prom deposits! The annual Junior-Senior Prom, sponsored by the junior class, is to be held on June 8 at Douglas Lodge, starting at 9:00 and lasting until 1:00 a.m.

Hire Artists

This year two artists have been hired to make some of the decorations. They are Mrs. Emily H. Sturkie, who is in charge of art classes at Rutgers Preparatory School and Mr. Gustav Szasz, who is on the graphic arts staff at Rutgers University. Other decorations remain secret.

The music will be provided by the "Mel-Tones." Unfortunately, "The Blazers" from the Peppermint Lounge will be on tour.

Prom Committee

These juniors are on the Prom Committee: Chairman: Dolores Resta; Co-Chairman: Barbara Deutsch; Food: Carol Hutner; Correspondence: Karen Kane; Bill Young, Richard Casey, Joan Ehrlich, Ray Zirpolo, and Marjorie Hamelsky.

Prods Students, Faculty: Notice Work Well Done

After four years of working on The Argo it seems strange to realize that this will be the last time that I shall be writing for the newspaper, unless as I hope, I shall be invited to contribute something as an alumna. I know that I should use this space to thank all those who have helped me this year and in the past; and I do thank these people most sincerely.

STUDENT INITIATIVE . . .

Since, however, this will be my last editorial, I prefer to lay aside the established precedent and, instead of writing a nostalgic farewell speech, to say things that I think must be said.

I have been in Prep for four years, and in that time I think that I have come to know it well. Throughout this year, I have sensed that the atmosphere of former years has been altered somewhat and I find that this change is reflected in the school's attitude towards its publications.

It is disheartening to see Argos tossed into the wastepaper basket, to hear people saying (and it happens every year) that this year's Yo Dial is not as good as last year's, or to throw the magazine aside without bothering to read it.

. . . DESERVES SPECIAL . . .

To a certain degree, I can understand this attitude among the students. After all, it is fashionable to be cynical and, really, what is a poem of some Prep freshman compared to the masterpieces we study? This attitude is extremely unhealthy, but, as I have said, I can understand it although I can not sympathize with it.

I cannot, however, understand how so many of the faculty members can be oblivious to the publications. I would suspect that some do not even know who are the editors and I am sure that none besides Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Lasser, who have worked with the publications, have any conception of the amount of work we do after school.

. . . CONSIDERATION, PRAISE

This lack of interest on the part of the students and the faculty is, I am convinced, the major reason why our attempt to put on a school play failed.

This failure proves that no matter how hard a few people may work to make something successful, it will unquestionably fail if the School has no interest in or sympathy for the effort that is being made. It would be tragic if the same thing were to happen to our publications.

Calls School's Projects Beneficial To Community

Since the school year is drawing to a close, the editorial board of The Argo thinks it is only fitting to mention the many ways in which the school serves the community. One of the School's chief services to the community is the diverse Summer Program.

SCHOOL AVAILS . . .

The Program is composed of the summer school, the three summer camps: Queen's, Basketball, and Wrestling, and the Summer Field Studies Trips. There is nothing out of the ordinary in the summer school, which offers the standard six week course of study.

Perhaps the most outstanding facet of the program is the Summer Field Studies Trip, which have no counterpart in the neighboring public, private, or parochial schools. It ably serves its dual purpose of making available the opportunity to see America's landmarks while providing valuable camping experience.

. . . SERVICES TO . . .

The remaining part of the Summer Program, the camps, has also been well received. The Queen's Camp has been especially successful again because it's in a class by itself, and because a good portion of the activities is decided by the campers themselves, thus providing the desired liberal atmosphere.

The two remaining camps are the Wrestling Camp and the basketball clinic, both of which provide adequate instruction in their respective sports and are especially beneficial to those who plan to participate in these sports during the regular season. Again it must be stressed that the school, camps, and trips are all open to the community.

. . . NEIGHBORING AREAS

The Argo hopes it has dispelled the standard complaint, that the Prep School plays no role in the community. It would also like to congratulate all those who have worked toward bringing the School and the community closer together on a job well done.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Freshman Laments Scarcity Of Responsibilities for Class

To the Editor:

Why doesn't the freshman class do anything? We have class officers and meetings, but no results. Our officers are not at fault. They completed all that was expected of them, and all the business at hand is taken care of at the meetings. But how much is that?

A class trip was our business for the year, and our vice-president executed only one act, the signing of a slip of paper to put the class dues in the bank. Couldn't he or any officer be given a chance to lead the class in some useful project? If I am wrong and school tradition has not provided activities for the freshman class to undertake, why meet at all?

Meetings are Useless

Often the point comes up of poor attendance at meetings. Each meeting is a repetition of the last. First we enter Mr. Blake's room directly after dismissal. We all noisily waiting for the meeting to begin, not really expecting to accomplish anything.

Once the room becomes filled, the president calls for order and begins the meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting are read hurriedly in an attempt to speed things up. Then our Student Council representative gives his report.

Interrupt Discussion

Comments are made, and any form of discussion is interrupted when a dozen hands shoot up. "I move that the meeting be adjourned," is called out by freshmen who want their names in the minutes.

Nothing to Do

If the entire burden and responsibility of the freshman class is to plan one trip, all we need is a treasurer and a class-mate to represent us in the Student Council. Is there nothing for us to do?

Perhaps by the time I become a senior I will find the answer, but by that time there will be a new class of freshmen, possibly asking themselves the same questions.

O'Connell Praises Athletic Coverage

To the Editor:

At this time, I would like to congratulate the members of The Argo staff for their sincere help in building school spirit and school pride. I would also like to thank you for your help in recognizing and aiding the building of our athletic program.

Cites Major Advance

April 16, 1962, was the first major step I have seen this year. When 45 boys on the varsity baseball and j.v. baseball squads stepped off the bus and into the gym after two victories over the Ward-Law School, one of the parents announced that the Lacrosse team had beaten the Hun School. 6-1. This brought a tremendous yell and then more cheers than those gym walls have heard in years.

Well-Rounded School

We have an outstanding academic school, and now we can say that we are well on our way to having the fine well-rounded school we all dream of.

Thank you again, and continue to do good work; we still have a long way to go.

Ursula Leaves for Home; Shows Pleasure At Visit

by Ursula Penzel '62

With the end of this school year approaching, I have come to realize more fully how much I have gained from my year at Prep. It started out to be quite "tough," believe me. There is nothing like writing term-papers without ever having seen such things before!

Beach Dreams Vanish

I wrote home to my friends saying that they should be very careful about applying for a year in the U.S., because this amazing country does not merely consist of ice-cream and California beach-dreams.

I have come to the conclusion that American daily life and school are very worthwhile experiences. With the aid of some fine courses in Prep, I have realized that there is something special about American life and heritage—something that cannot be transplanted into Europe.

Feels Unique Spirit

I don't know how to describe this rather unique spirit—maybe some catchwords like "a free country," "pursuit of happiness," and a vast number of adjectives that you use when you describe your country can help me to explain what I mean.

Enjoys Prep Courses

I enjoyed the Prep School and its courses very much (let us not talk about those finals right now). One of the many realizations I have made is that the English language has much lovelier aspects than those I learned from my grammar books in Germany.

At this point, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to all those in Prep who have helped so much to make this year a wonderful and exciting experience. It will be nice for you to know that I am not the only one to profit from this experience: I can assure you that all my friends at home are very anxious to hear all about this country.

Also changed recently is the location of the Argomag staff, which has moved from the second floor to Room 4, where it has more room to work.

INQUIRING REPORTER

by Peter Lederman '65

What do you consider the outstanding event of the past year? Billy Dubin: Renée Lichtman's party.

Dave Pickar: My highest scoring basketball game.

Ed Diener: The soccer team's winning season.

Leo Motluk: Graduation.

Joe Smyth: Getting my driver's license.

Ralph Goldberg: The last hayride.

Billy Landau: My first goal on the varsity soccer team.

Dan Varady: The best part of the year will be commencement.

Carole Neivert: The revision of the Constitution and the acceptance of the Alma Mater.

Pam Jacobson: The hayride, not really. Mrs. Rooda's thing.

Warren Marshall: Got me, I don't know.

Joe Perissinotto: The fine cooperation between the faculty and students.

Gary Nevius: When the door fell off the boy's basement.

Bill Sleigh: The Winter Pep Rally, you know, the one I starred in.

Greg DeVido: I'll never tell. Howard Ulan: The school song was approved.

Gonthar Rooda: I'm not conceited. Walpurgis Night, the great orgy we had.

Charles Collard: That's a good question. Well, the student faculty game.

Larry Gerson: The soccer dance after the season.

Ben Pickar: The foreign exchange student Ursula, coming to this school.

Amy Levowitz: The winning athletic teams.

Doug Kennett: Vicki Tuschak's party.

David Heinlein: The soccer season or the progress fund drive—it's awfully hard to decide.

Richard Casey: Beats me! O'Connell?

Sue Wintersteiner: The senior privileges.

Jean Kluff: Christmas vacation.

John Heby: Tuschak's party.

Barbara Deutsch: When Leo Motluk lost his bathing suit in Ray Zirlo's pool at the party.

Bruce Dersch: Senior Day.

Mr. Holley: I think there were two things that were outstanding: the general improvement of our athletic teams and the fine production of Walpurgis Night.

Bret Lane: The improvement of the baseball, basketball, and soccer teams.

Abner Taub: My coming to Prep.

Dave Jacob: The things I found most exciting this year were the mid-terms and Mr. Miller's Ancient History tests.

Joan Ehrlich: My term paper grade.

Max Hamburger: The biggest event of the year was when Mr. Fenstermaker let the swimming team play water polo.

David Nemeth: After thinking very hard, I have come to the decision that the Woodwind Quintet Concert was the most inspiring and enjoyable hour I've spent at Prep.

Lois Reitman: The day Jack and Doug watched me at work in the Rutgers Library.

On March 17, 1962 the Columbia Scholastic Press Association awarded THE ARGO a special certificate of merit for excellence in typography.

The award was given upon the recommendation of the International Graphic Arts Education Association. A panel of three judges, members of the association, judged the different school newspapers in their separate classes. THE ARGO was first in its class.

School Schedules Many New Summer Activities

by David Pickar '65

Rutgers Preparatory School again presents a varied summer program, ranging from camping trips to basketball instruction, under the direction of Mr. Richard S. O'Connell. The first of the various summer camps to meet is Queen's Camp directed by Mr. August H. Daviet, Jr. Running from early in July through August, Queen's Camp offers a program of nature studies, visits to historical sites, campouts, swimming and canoeing, along with a study of the Elm Farm Campus.

The camp program will be highlighted by several overnight trips, including one to Mystic, Conn.

Daviet Directs Studies
Also directed by Mr. Daviet is the Summer Field Studies. Because of its success last year, Mr. Daviet has continued the program with a trip through the Hudson Valley and the Adirondack Mountains.

Participants will visit historical sites, such as Fort Ticonderoga, and will camp out at state parks and registered camping sites.

Along with Mr. Daviet, Mr. and Mrs. Sorrell R. Paskin will chaperone. The trip has openings for 14, including girls. There will also be a trip, composed entirely of seniors, which will travel and camp on the battlefield at Gettysburg.

Hold Two Basketball Sessions
Another camp offered by the School this summer is the Rutgers Preparatory School Basketball Camp. It is being held in two sessions this year. The first is for boys from the ages of 11-14. The fundamentals of basketball will be stressed.

Prominent Coaches Teach

In the second session, consisting of older boys, technical instruction will be given by such authorities as Mr. Richard Sterling, a former professional player and referee, and Mr. John Gutkowski, former coach of the Sayreville high school basketball team.

The last of the summer camps is one devoted specifically to wrestling enthusiasts. Such stars as Mr. Tom Grifa, now head coach of wrestling at North Plainfield High School will instruct the boys on the basic holds and moves.

Elm Farm Thespians Perform; Present Musical And Comedy

by Michael Scilla '66

The lower school is having its taste of dramatics and spring sports, highlighted by the plays "H.M.S. Pinafore" and "I Remember Mama." The first two plays are presented by the fifth and sixth, and eighth grades respectively.

Supervise Plays
Under the supervision of Mrs. Kehoe and Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, the fifth and sixth grades were successful in presenting their play. It was held in the carriage house, and attendance was such that a repeat performance was requested. Art direction was staged by Mrs. Emily Sturkie and music by Mrs. Jacqueline Heaton.

Playing prominent roles were Patricia Jasnowski, Sandra Jacobs, Robert Seles, James Wilentz, Brenda Nemeth, Mark Weimer, Gerard Aitken, and Susan Glasser.

"I Remember Mama"
The eighth grade, setting a new tradition, presented "I Remember Mama," directed by Miss Nancy Warr. Director of lighting was Mr. Sorrell R. Paskin. Refreshments were served and proceeds went to the Library Fund.

Every prop used in the play was supplied by the students and additional expenses were covered by the eighth grade treasury. The eighth grade received a large attendance on May 11, at 8:00 p.m. The play took place in the gym.

Participants

Katherine Molnar played the role of Mama, while Carey Delcau portrayed Papa. Susan Bredemeier, Joyce Vargyas, Amy Levy, and Tim Riley were the children. Others were Marlene Hess, Maria Messina, Margaret Bower, Glen Drew, Ilene Highmark, Arlene Schwartz, Michael Scilla, and Steven Patt. Andrew Blumberg portrayed the male lead role, Uncle Chris.

List Acceptances For Class of '62

Members of the senior class will attend the following schools: They are Mark Bezanson, Rutgers; Paula Conrad, Bard; Edward Freedman, Rochester; Ralph Goldberg, Bridgeport; Warren Greenhouse, Rider; Constance Hess, Pine Manor; Pamela Jacobson, Oklahoma; Laird Klingler, Lafayette; Frederica Kolbay, Hobart-William Smith; Jean Kramer, Wellesley; Charles Levy, Cornell; Barbara Abernethy, Mt. Holyoke; and Ellen Holsten, Chatham.

Seniors Decide
Gary Miller, Ursinus; Leo Motiuk, Dickinson; Gary Nevius, Bucknell; Joseph Perissinotto, Georgetown; Gonthar Rooda, Rutgers; Marilyn Silverman, Douglass; William Sleigh, Grove City; Joseph Smyth, V.P.I.; Harry Sorensen, Stevens Institute; James Stamp, Trinity College; and Peter Wilson, Columbia.

Others still remaining undecided are Margaret Legge, Scott Hughes, Meredith Miers, and Nicholas Reale.

Mrs. Fascik Accepts New Library Post

The Rudolph's Memorial Library has a new librarian, replacing Mrs. Joan Neuwirth. The new librarian, Mrs. Adele Fascik started working at the library in the beginning of April. She comes in twice a week.

Graduate of Cornell
Mrs. Fascik previously had been a librarian at Long Island University. She had held that post for two years. Mrs. Fascik is a graduate of Cornell University, class of 1951. She also attended the Library School of Columbia University for one year.

Finishing Cataloging
Mrs. Fascik is now finishing the cataloging and work which Mrs. Neuwirth could not finish before she left.

More Members Join The Board

Thirteen new members have been added to the Board of Trustees of Rutgers Preparatory School, making the total number of members twenty-six. The result of this change in the Board gives Rutgers Preparatory School a more representative body.

New Members
The Board now consists of newly-elected District Court Judge George R. Morrison '10, Loyal T. Ives '21, Marcus Wright, III '45, Fred Hermann, Jr. '39, Jerome W. Waldron '22, Theodore Whitlock, Jr. '36, Jerome Halprin, Mrs. Edward Jasnowski, Dr. Walter Steub, Robert "Wicket" Henry Tomkinson, Mrs. Stanley Kaufel, and Nelson Dunham '12, who is president of the New Brunswick Savings Institution, and who will succeed Dr. Kenneth R. Erff as President of the Board.

Executive Committee
From the Board of Trustees a ten man Executive Committee has been named. Its members are: Mr. Kaufel, Mr. Strong, Mr. Dunham, Mr. Wright, Mr. Levy, Mr. Segoin, Mr. Tomkinson, Dr. Aitken, Dr. Heinlein, and Mr. Stamp.

K. Yarnell Kuhlthau '20 is counsel for the Board.

President And Vice-President Advise New School Officers

To the New President:

May I be among the first to congratulate you. Your new office is both a challenging and a rewarding one. It will be an experience you will not soon forget.

Foresees Change

Next year will be one of great change for Rutgers Preparatory School. The Student Council must meet this change. The eighth grade will again become part of the upper school. It should have a representative on the Council.

The Council committees should be continued and expanded. Student government must not only work for the students, but also along with them. These groups offer an excellent opportunity for the student body to become acquainted with Council ideas and to make suggestions concerning questionable policies.

Many Participate

This year over two-thirds of our school has taken part in Council work. We of this year's Council want to see this figure surpassed during 1962-1963.

I could submit many more suggestions but then I am certain you have many of your own. I only hope that you have the chance to work with such fine Council members as those who have assisted me this year. Good luck!

Leo Motiuk '62

To the New Vice-President:

May I first extend my congratulations and wish that next year's experiences be as rewarding as mine have been.

For the past years, the vice-president, in addition to deciding upon school policy at Council meetings, has been chairman of the Dance Committee. I feel that this is the most important responsibility of the office. Acting as a social coordinator, the v.p. comes into direct contact with the student body.

Council Activities Vital

A great deal of the Council's prestige depends upon the success of Council functions. However, I do not wish to de-emphasize the actual duty at Council meetings, I feel that the v.p. should work at all times with the President.

Avoid Complacency

The v.p. will many times have to speak for the president or introduce parts of the president's program. I would also like to say that one of the worst situations to befall any officer is complacency.

Many officers only follow the accepted standards and fail to introduce new ideas. In conclusion, may I say that although the responsibilities are great, I am sure you will consider it a worthwhile experience.

Laird Klingler '62

NEWS IN BRIEF

VARSITY 'R' CONSTITUTION

The new constitution of the Varsity 'R' Club is almost completed. Because of the expansion in membership this year, the Club felt a need for a new constitution. Mr. Frank V. Speduto, advisor, gave assistance in the framing of the document.

To close its year, the Club promoted the last game with Peddie School. President Laird Klingler '62, in support of the promotion,

Daviet Takes Science Trip

Mr. August H. Daviet, Jr. is to attend a four week laboratory science conference this summer at the New Mexico Highlands University in Las Vegas, New Mexico. This conference, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, extends from June 4 until June 29.

Studies New Trends

Thirty instructors are expected to participate in order to study the new approaches to mathematics, biology, chemistry and physics.

The purpose of the meeting is to help science supervisors to familiarize themselves with these new programs and decide whether or not they are suitable for the instructors' needs.

Groups to Discuss

The conference will consist of group discussions with the people who originally formulated the new courses. Mr. Daviet does not expect that this conference will institute changes in any Rutgers Prep science course.

Ye Dial Produces Fine Lay-Out, Photography, Successful Theme

by Phillip Shapiro '63

The 1962 Ye Dial is, I believe, the best production any yearbook staff of the Rutgers Preparatory School has ever produced.

Probably the best area consists of the dividers, which are arranged to amplify the informal theme stressed by the entire book. They demonstrate the most enjoyable facets of the School in a manner never before achieved, because they are about typical events of school life.

The introduction with its greater length, adds much-needed impressions of the student body. The yearbook went beyond the school for a different view of school activities.

Continues Same Theme

The same theme is carried on into the activities pages, which are a considerable improvement over the performances of the preceding years. In the past, formal photographs of a club gave no indication about the projects or the atmosphere of the group; this year, however, informality blends with wit and far-fetched pictures to increase enjoyment.

Shorten Descriptions

The descriptions of groups are held to a minimum and speak in generalizations, making the entire section more readable. The Dial staff has worked admirably to create situations of interest and originality.

Senior Pages

The pages devoted to the seniors introduce both practical and unfortunate ideas. The activities are listed separately and informally are appropriate and natural.

Drawback in Format

However, this method draws the formals together in a tight, boxy format which I believe detracts somewhat from the appearance by being overly conventional. It also hampers the custom of senior signatures by restricting space.

It seems to me to be a good idea to include the eighth grade with the upper school.

The lay-outs of the pages in sports stress originality and spotlight interesting participants. The lay-out sets off each team in an exclusive arrangement, and provides an appropriate conclusion to an excellent production.

Montclair Topples Nine; Collard Knocks In Two

A long two run homer in the seventh inning led Montclair Academy to a narrow 6-5 victory over the Argonauts on May 17, at Johnson Park.

The homer and a scratch single, also in the seventh frame were the only hits off Mike Jacobs. Charles Collard was the hitting star for Prep with two runs batted in.

Stickmen Top Hun, Peddie

The Rutgers Prep Lacrosse Team finished the 1962 season on a high note, winning hard fought victories over Hun, Peddie, and the Rutgers Freshmen, and dropping other close games.

Score and Hustle

The success of Coach Lugossy's stickmen was largely due to the scoring and hustling of attackmen Bill Sleigh and Jim Gunkle, and midfielders Laird Klingler and Ed Freedman.

Co-captains Klingler and Freedman accounted for almost half of the team's total offense, and senior Bill Sleigh led the attackmen in fine all around play.

Defense Improves

Although the defense showed several weak spots early in the season, once these were ironed out, it became a strong point of the team. Warren Greenhouse, Chris Jorgensen, and Ben Pickar rounded out the starting team.

Pickar Stands Out

Backing up the defense was our fine freshman goalie, Dave Pickar, who missed recording shutouts twice in the final minutes of play. Sleigh, Klingler, and Freedman were the stand-outs of the squad, providing many of the goals and assists.

Because of the abundance of underclassmen on this year's 3-5 record.

Present Letters, Trophies; Honor Teams, Cheerers

The annual sports dinner to honor participants in soccer, cross country, basketball, wrestling, and swimming was held on March 20. Letters and awards were given to the athletes.

Award Cheerleaders

In addition, the cheerleaders were presented with miniature megaphones. Trophies were given to Leo Motluk for being the most valuable basketball player, to Peter Konowicz for being the most improved basketball player, and to Warren Marshall for being the most valuable swimmer.

Heinlein Speaks

Dr. David M. Heinlein, headmaster, the first speaker, congratulated Mr. Richard S. O'Connell for the fine job he has done in expanding our athletic program.

Guest speaker was Mr. Stan Ross '56, who now attends the University of Pennsylvania Dental School. Winner of three letters while at Prep, he spoke about the scholastic and athletic background he received while at the School.

Marc Turtlelaub and Michael Jacobs were honored by two New Jersey newspapers on March 25, at the end of the basketball season.

Turtlelaub was awarded a 3rd team ranking on the All-State Prep School team chosen by the Newark Sunday News. In addition, both he and Jacobs received honorable mention on the All-County team chosen by the New Brunswick Daily Home News.

The rankings were based on the 1961-62 basketball team, which had an 8-13 record.

Prep Loses Tough Ones

Prep's varsity baseball team had a disappointing, and, at times, a frustrating season. Errors have been responsible in preventing the team from winning a number of ballgames. Despite good pitching and fairly good hitting, Prep only managed to win two out of its first nine games.

The team is built around a strong pitching staff, paced by ace right-hander, Mike Jacobs along with Charles Collard, and on occasion, Scott Hughes, first-string catcher.

Jacobs, Collard Win

Jacobs recorded his victory in the initial contest over Wardlaw, performing brilliantly as he struck out eighteen batters. The other victory was achieved by Collard in his three hitter against St. Bernards.

Defense Costs Games

The hitting percentage headed by Ray Peachey, Bob Sutherlin, Bill Landau, and Collard was high enough to win most of the games, if it hadn't been for the defensive play. A number of close ballgames have been lost because the offense could not make-up for defensive mistakes.

Games! Food! Grades! Clash On Field Day

Rutgers Prep's annual Field Day will take place on Friday, May 25, at Johnson Park from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The main event of the day will be the Senior-Faculty softball game. Last year, the faculty tromped the seniors but this year the seniors will come into the game with a determined line-up and should present considerable competition. The captain of the faculty is Mr. A. Z. Holley.

Softball, touch football, tennis, and soccer are the athletic events which will occupy most of the day.

A tug-of-war or a push ball contest will be a new addition to the events. An egg throwing contest will also take place.

Students will have their choice of hot dogs, hamburgers, egg salad, peanut butter and jelly, cream cheese and jelly, or tuna fish for lunch.

Jay-Vee Sluggers Show New Skills

The junior varsity baseball team gained much experience and practice over the year. Its record was 1-6.

Lane Stars

The outstanding player on the team was Bret Lane, who demonstrated his control in hurling. He pitched the majority of the games with Bob Zagoren and Dan Varady backing him up.

Bill Dublin, Jeff Gale, Pete Lederman, Mike Tucker, Robbie Kauter, and Bob Seidel all played the infield while David Heinlein, Dan Varady, and Larry Gerson roamed in the outfield. John Adams and Al Gumbus provided the catching.

Varady Hits

Dan Varady can be credited with outstanding hitting all through the season, highlighted by an over-the-fence, grand-slam home run at Newark Academy.

Montclair Freshmen Beat Argonaut 10

by Michael Gottlieb '65

The Rutgers Prep stickmen, coached by Mr. Frank Lugossy, were downed in their outings against the Rutgers Freshman "B" squad and Montclair High School.

A hard-running Rutgers Freshman "B" Team recorded an 8-4 victory over the Argonauts at the University Heights on May 10. Freshman goalie David Pickar turned in a fine performance with twelve saves.

Lugossy Pleased

Leo Motluk, Bill Sleigh, and Jim Gunkle each tallied an unassisted goal. Ed Freedman also scored with an assist from Laird Klingler. Coach Lugossy was pleased with the team's performance.

In the next game, on May 14, Prep was defeated 5-4 by Montclair High School on the opponent's field. Pickar, who had seven saves, and the defensemen, turned in a fine game. On the attack for Prep, Gunkle, who later scored unassisted, fired a goal on an assist from Gary Miller.

Klingler and Michael Miller also recorded unassisted goals. In the third quarter, goalie Pickar went out of the game on a one minute penalty, and midfielder Klingler replaced him, stopped two shots, and did not allow any goals.

Offense Fails

Coach Lugossy believes that Prep's major problem was the lack of shots by the offense, although in the last quarter the Argonauts took many shots in an attempt to tie the game.

The squad lost its final game of the season, 9-4, to Peddie on May 21. The game, which was even in the second half, was decided early when Peddie started fast, scoring several goals in the opening period.

MARK'S REMARKS

by Marc Turtlelaub '63

1962 was one of the most memorable and successful years for Prep athletics in a number of years. The outstanding jobs turned in by the players and coaches will be long remembered by those who were on at least one of the Prep teams.

Excellent Coaching

With only about one hundred boys in the school, the Argonaut teams have been suffering from mediocrity for the last few years. This year, with the compulsory athletic rule in effect, more boys were competing for the first-string positions, leading to the greater team spirit and top ability. Excellent coaching and the team leadership of certain seniors were also major factors in the squads' success.

In the fall, the soccer team was our best ever, recording a 6-4-4 record. The cagers won more games this year than they have in the last four years. The mermen also had a winning slate, and, but for a tie and a few close losses, would have compiled a great season's record. Finally, baseball and lacrosse are finishing the year on a high note, copping their share of the victories.

Potential Wins

We can certainly look forward to some first-class teams for the '63-'64 season. There will be potential winning squads in all of the major sports plus a big improvement in our newly-instituted squads, wrestling and cross-country.

Although there were many outstanding underclassmen, the sports staff wishes to congratulate the seniors who provided the spirit, leadership, and inspiration that sparked our teams to their fine marks.
