BASKETBALL STARS AWARDED JEWELRY BY FAITHFUL ALUMNI

James Deschler, '27 Acts as The Representative
Of Graduates; Managers of New Teams
Announced by Mr. Brown

A special meeting of the student body called last Thursday was featured by the awarding of gold basketballs, a present from the Prep alumni to the courtsters, gold shoes to two track men, and school letters to the members of the winning basketball, winter track, and swimming teams. Midget letters in basketball were also given to the Prep juveniles.

Mr. James Deschler, '27, and a graduate of Williams in 1931, represented the alumni in presenting gold trophies to nine basketball men and their manager. Mr. Deschler advised the student body to remember that the graduates were always behind them in their scholastic and athletic endeavors.

Managers Appointed

The results of the meeting of the Athletic Association which had been held on Wednesday afternoon was announced. Managers of the various teams for coming seasons were named by Mr. C. H. Brown. John Miller was made football manager. Frances Pattberg was appointed to fill the tennis position. Ray Rosenberg took the swimming lead for the 1933 season.

A discussion was held by the Association on several proposed measures. One was to forbid the wearing of letters won in other schools by Prep students. Another suggested the abolishment of personally-bought gold emblems. The third dealt with the question of not permitting the varsity "R" to be worn unless won by some meritorious action with the consent of the Association.

Midget basketball letters were given to J. Snitzler, R. Procter, P. Krauszer, L. Runyon, E. Hayes, J. Tasker, W. Tasker, Dougherty, Craig. These younger boys played a full schedule of games in accordance with the varsity regulations.

Third Place Taken by Argo In Columbia Press Contest

The Argo again came through in the Columbia Press Association Contest and captured third place. Last year the paper took fourth place. Over fifteen hundred representatives of scholastic papers throughout the world were present at the convention which adjourned last Saturday. The Argo has received congratulations from many publishing houses and other sources on its success.

ARGO INVESTIGATION FINDS VARIED IDEAS ON "DIAL" QUESTION

Students and Faculty Disagree on Possibility
Of Year Book success; Statements
Point Toward Failure

The question of the publication of "Ye Dial", Rutgers Prep yearbook, was reopened last week when Headmaster William P. Kelly presented before the student body two estimates which had been sent him. Both estimates were prepared upon the basis that all unnecessary and feature material was to be omitted. The lowest figure submitted was by Heidingsfeld Company of New Brunswick.

Much criticism and support has been evident about the school in regard to the publication of this yearbook, and in the hope that it might help decide the question, The Argo interviewed several members of the faculty and student body. From these interviews many helpful suggestions were found.

Several boys proposed benefit games in basketball and baseball; others requested student subscriptions. The general opinion of The Argo staff and faculty advisors was that "Ye Dial" would never reach completion.

Argo Publishes Reviews

Mr. J. B. Laramore, sponsor of The Argo, replied upon questioning, "No Dial is far better, in my opinion, than a poor Dial. The Argo expects to publish from time to time articles and resumes of the various phases of student life; and if these are incorporated in the scrapbooks already purchased by most students from Richard Keating, a record will be presented, far more complete than could be included in a Dial published at this time under the unfortunate handicap of lack of funds."

Carl Virgien, editor-in-chief of the Argo, also shared the same ideas upon the subject. He said, "I do not believe it is possible for 'Ye Dial' to materialize this year. Although in 1931 a large number of men reported for work on the yearbook, it so happened that before completion most of the writing was being done by the editor, Roger Gay. Personally, I am against a student subscription unless the price is made high enough to permit a better book to be published. After all, what is a yearbook without features?"

Athletic Association Votes Letters to Winning Teams

The Athletic Association which met last Wednesday voted to award letters to the men on the various squads who were recommended for the insignia by their coaches.

Basketball letters were presented to Jablonsky, Lins, Keating, Grossman, Pennington, Strapp, Fertig, Braid, Levin, and Mook, Manager. Swimming letters went to Spence, Dodge, Shive, Minor swimming letters were received by Whitehead, Schermerhorn, and McCabe Manager. Linders, O'Donnell, Stengel, Smith, Brost and Lownes, manager, were recipient of winter track awards.

Gold basketballs presented by the alumni went to the members of the winning court team. Stengel and Linders took gold shoes as their reward for excellent performance during the winter track season.

By approval of the Association Drayton Mook was named as manager of the basketball team.

TREE ASSOCIATION REQUESTS PLANTING

Fourteen Million Memorials To Washington
Registered by American Tree Association

The American Tree Association headed by Charles Lathrop Pack sent a request to the Argo, asking for its support in the National Drive for Tree Planting in commemoration of the bi-centennial of the birth of George Washington. The letter asked that either the administration or students sponsor the planting of at least one tree.

The letter follows in part:

"We want to see your school on the national honor roll of the American Tree Association and credited with planting at least one tree to mark the bi-centennial of the birth of George Washington. Will you put this invitation before your readers and thus welcome them to membership in the tree planting army. All of this costs nothing. We send each tree planter a national certificate.

"We are recording tree planting, the living memorials, in thousands of schools. You do not need an individual application blank for each tree planter. Just have them report to you or to the tree planting chairman in each unit and the certificates will follow. We register schools as units

Rutgers Takes Lead But Fails to Withstand

JABLONSKY HANDICAPPED BY ARM

Hun School Taken Over By Red and White
Passers; Was Conceded Important Event.

Last Saturday, the Maroon and White travelled to Asbury Park to meet St. Benedict's of Newark in the finals of the Class A Prep School Division of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Association.

No Scoring At First

In the first few minutes of play there was no scoring by either team. The first point was scored by Jablonsky on a free throw. This was followed by a goal by Pennington, who dribbled in and shot from beneath the basket. The lead was closely overtaken by Orsini of the Gray Bees who shot from the side to make the score three-two. He was followed by McGonigle, a teammate, who sank one from the side. Then the preppers began to move. Keating sank a long hawk from the side; then Grossman scored two in quick succession. Geraghty sank a free throw and Orsini tossed another two-pointer for the Gray Bees. Pennington sank another basket for Prep as the period ended in Rutgers' favor, 11-7. After a short rest, the second period got under way, with the Gray Bees attempting shots from all over the court. There was some beautiful pass work for the first three or four minutes, but St. Benedict's could not penetrate the Red five man defense. Jablonsky sank a pair of free throws and Reilly of the Gray Bees threw a two-pointer from the foul line. Just after the next tap-off Pennington got the ball and passed it to Keating who flipped it from beneath the basket. This ended the period with the score 15-11 in favor of the Preppers.

Saints Got The Tap

At the outset of the second half, the Gray Bees took the tap and Troisi received a pass from Lape to sink the goal from beyond the foul line. On the next tap Pennington took the ball, gave it to Jablonsky, who passed it to Pennington; then Pennington dribbled down the court and tossed from directly beneath the basket. Troisi sank one from mid-court, closely followed by Lape who shot from the foul line. Orsini then threw from mid-court

James Neilson, Rutgers Benefactor, At 87 is Oldest Living Prep Graduate

Constant Interest and Attention Given College
And Prep Has Caused Alumni to Become Well-Known And Loved

Mr. James Neilson, Prep graduate of the class of 1867, is believed to be the oldest living graduate of Rutgers Prep. The lack of complete records makes this fact impossible to ascertain with certainty. Mr. Neilson, who was born on November 17, 1844, is now 87 years old. After graduating from Prep, he attended Rutgers College, graduating in 1866. In 1869 he received the degree of M.A. from Rutgers College and Bachelor of Laws from Hamilton College. Shortly afterward he was admitted to the bar in New Jersey. Mr. Neilson, as gleaned from material in the Rutgers University Library, recalls the days when there were but three private carriages in New Brunswick, and but one boarder bridge across the Raritan. He has been prominent in the affairs of Rutgers University ever since his graduation. In 1886 he was made a member of the Board of Trustees of the institution, and is now the oldest member of the board both in age and in time of service.

Mr. James Neilson

Made Many Gifts

He has given the University a large part of its land, his first gift being Neilson Campus. Among his other gifts of land has been Neilson Field. He has been a member of the Board of Visitors of the State Agricultural College since 1878, and President of the Board since 1913. With Mr. L. F. Loree, President of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, he was instrumental in bringing The New Jersey College for Women to New Brunswick. He has given it much of its land, including Gibbons Campus, and, with Mr. Loree, Antilles Field.

Active Life Lead

Mr. Neilson is an ardent Democrat, a which he has run for the State Senate. He also favors modification of the Volstead act, as he believes it to be doing considerable harm. Until recently, he was accustomed to take a daily bicycle ride, but within the last three or four years he has been forced to give that up. However, he is still fond of outdoor exercise, and takes a long daily walk. Like the late Mr. Edison, Mr. Neilson does not believe that long hours of sleep are necessary. Mr. Neilson is not fond of publicity, and it was not until a few years ago that he permitted his picture to be printed in any news publication. On the other hand, he likes people; his house is often the scene of some entertainment or other.

According to Doc Cook, the prevailing mode in short hair cuts is inadvisable, due to the subsequent retardation of reflective thinking. Apparently his advice is being followed, for we notice an increase in the number of violins at the Trap.

With the advent of Spring and the Easter vacation the traditional turning of young men's fancies begins to parallel that of other years. Nowhere is this meditative lethargy more apparent than in the study hall, though it must be said that all classrooms during the fifth and sixth period afford a close second. A striking demonstration was given the other day by a certain one of our old timers, who, when informed by the instructor that he looked bored, betook himself, on awakening, slowly and nonchalantly to the blackboard.

The slight epidemic of grippe which diminished our numbers for several weeks, is rapidly passing; and all of the boys who were ill at home, with the exception of Brock Lownes have returned. At last accounts, Lownes was much improved, and we hope to see him back in school after the vacation.

We all regret the long and severe illness of Mrs. Yates. She has been greatly missed at the Trap during the past two weeks.

Henry Piscicelli, of Brooklyn, who attended the school in 1929-31, visited the Trap a few days ago. Henry is now attending High School in Brooklyn, and brought, along with his own, the regards of Mayglothling, of last year's class, who also lives in Brooklyn.

Jorgensen and Schermerhorn, who occupy seats in the chapel directly exposed to the winds howling through the front door, have requested The Argo to say that irrespective of their views, which follow those often expressed as to the place of birth of people who leave doors open, they feel that they are entitled, on the basis of their status as old-timers, to consideration from those who find it necessary to frequent Sam's or the corner store during study hall hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Coc, of Brooklyn were week-end guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher.

MUST WE TALK IT OVER?

The uselessness of publishing "Ye Dial" is so apparent that any further comment is unnecessary. The poll conducted by The Argo bore out the fact that those who wished a yearbook were quite unwilling to work for it. Suggestions are excellent, but, it is quite another task to attempt to put them into practice. And the men who thought up these novel ideas had no practical plan to begin operation! This in itself is most ridiculous.

In a former article The Argo set forth quite clearly its stand upon the whole situation. Apparently it had no result in convincing the students of the inadvisability of a Dial. Instead of beating around a bush, however, The Argo is willing to come right out and announce that after consultation of its staff a decision has been reached to the effect that The Argo will not stand behind any movement for the promotion of the Dial. Again we repeat that any further comment is unnecessary.

EASTER GREETINGS

Today the Easter vacation begins and the students will go North, East, South and West towards their homes in various quarters. The Argo hopes that it will be carried back to express to parents and friends the sincere wishes of the administration for a Happy Easter. May it be possible that the vacation will be the means of providing a clean slate for everyone.

SCIENTIFIC LIBRARY AFFORDED BY MASS. TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

Famous College Offers Degree of Bachelor of Science; Permits Advanced Students to Pursue Own Scientific Investigations

The purpose of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is to afford to students such a combination of general, scientific and professional training as will fit them to take leading positions in the field of work they chose. Offering both undergraduate and graduate courses, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science and Master of Science, the institution affords advanced students excellent opportunities for the pursuit of original scientific investigations in its special research laboratories.

Institute Is Incorporated

The foundation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was laid in a "Memorial" prepared in 1859 by Prof. Rogers and presented to the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts of 1860. In April, 1861 an Act was passed by the General Court of Mass. to incorporate The Massachusetts Institute of Technology "for the purpose of instituting and maintaining a society of arts, a museum of arts, and a school of industrial science, and aiding generally by suitable means the advancement and practical application of science in connection with arts, agriculture, manufactures and commerce."

Originally located in Boston, the Institute moved to a new site on the Charles River Basin. This site comprises a tract of nearly eighty acres extending along the esplanade on the Cambridge side of the river. Here are located the educational buildings, the infirmary, the dormitories and the athletic field. Many street cars and subways afford easy access from all parts of Boston.

Has Excellent Laboratories

The Institute has one of the leading scientific and technical libraries of the United States. It also has numerous large and well equipped laboratories. The Institute laboratory work is effectively supplemented by visits to engineering and industrial establishments, and by excursions directed by members of the faculty.

The estimated cost of one year's tuition including board and room is about $1,200. To assist those students in need of financial assistance the Undergraduate Employment Office has a list of available part time positions open to students.

Student Government Permitted

The student government of the undergraduates at the Institute is in the hands of the Institute Committee, a body representing every important student activity.

The purpose of athletics at the Institute is not to develop highly trained athletes, but to encourage all students to participate in some form of physical recreation.

All students admitted to any subjects without having fulfilled the usual preparation requirements are classified as provisional students.

The Institute gives instruction in English,

BRINK, '29 NAMED MANAGING EDITOR OF COLLEGE PAPER

Was Editor of Argo, Debater, Dial Manager While at Prep; Elected Journalism at Middlebury College

Frederick W. Brink, a Junior at Middlebury College who graduated from Rutgers Prep in 1929, was last week elected to the position of managing editor of the Middlebury Campus, the weekly newspaper of the college.

The managing editor has complete charge over the publication of the paper, deciding what stories are to be printed, the manner in which the paper is to be arranged, and direction of all mechanical work. While the editor decides the policy of the editorial column of the paper, the managing editor has complete charge and authority over the material, publication and board.

Editor of Humor Magazine

Mr. Brink besides his work on Campus, on which he was last year an assistant editor and the year before a member of the news staff, is also assistant editor of the Kaleidoscope, the annual book published by the members of the junior class. He is also the editor of the Blue Baboon, the college humor magazine, which is being reorganized at the present time after a lapse of three years of non-publication.

Aside from his journalistic activities, Mr. Brink is a member of the varsity debating team being last year elected to membership in Tau Kappa Alpha, the national honorary forensic society. He is also a member of the English Club, the honorary English society at Middlebury.

Mr. Brink has also been active in athletics. He was a member of last year's track team and a member of the cross country team of the past season. In addition he has played hockey and baseball in the interfraternity tournaments. He is a member of Chi Psi fraternity.

Held Prep Offices

While in Prep, Mr. Brink was a member of the debating team for two years, editor of the Argo, business manager of Ye Dial, manager of swimming his Senior year, and a member of the athletic council. He was awarded the Latin prize at the end of his Senior year in addition to being elected to the Cum Laude society.

History and Political Science, and in other general studies which are essential to a liberal education. It also gives a thorough training in the fundamental sciences of chemistry, physics and mathematics, and in the important application of the principles of these sciences to the various branches of engineering and applied sciences.

TENNIS PROSPECTS INCLUDE SCHUH, WEHR

The tennis prospects for the coming season are unusually bright. Carl Schuh, number one man last year, is again back at Prep and also a new comer to school, Paul Wehr who played on the Mercersburg team last year. A number of other boys will try out for the remaining places. Warren, Rosenberg, Pattberg, Whitaker and Schneider have already signified their desire to go out for this sport.

Every spring, a tennis tournament is held to decide the ranking of the team. If any boys wish to enter this tournament, they may do so. There is also a junior tournament at the same time for the boys under 16 years old. Last year, this junior tournament was won by Richard Nebel.

Athletic Director, Charles H. Brown has already arranged several matches for the team, although the schedule has not as yet been made out. However, it is rumored that both Montclair and Princeton Prep will be included in the schedule when it is completed.

baseball between Prep and some New Brunswick team might be arranged to raise money for the publication. Such a contest would draw many rooters, who would pay admission," he said.

Mr Charles H. Brown, Director of Athletics, expressed himself heartily in favor of "Ye Dial". "It's the only thing to do, so that the boys can have a record of their athletic achievements", was his remark.

Frank Heur said philosophically, "It's a long, sad story."

Subscription Favored

Carl Schuh, number one man on the tennis team, was more practical. "I'm in favor of taking up a subscription from students. The school needs a permanent memento."

"If the school and students aren't able to afford "Ye Dial", why bother to proceed any further in the matter?" asked Arnold Jorgenson, president of the Student's Association, in agreement with the stand maintained by The Argo staff.

Herbert Fertig became reminiscent as he spoke. "I think that a yearbook is required for the scholastic records alone, but I have no idea who will do the writing."

But, the best answer of the day was given to this reporter when he interviewed Jimmie Reilly. The young swimmer refused to commit himself. "I don't know anything about it," he confessed.

and "Loose" Jablonsky made another free throw. The period ended a minute later with the score 19-18 in favor of St. Benedict's. Incidentally, this was the second time that the Gray Bees had taken the lead; the other being when the score was 4-3. As the game entered the fourth period, Jablonsky was rapidly tiring due to a bad arm. In this quarter, the Gray Bees were shooting mostly from mid-court, as Lape and Orsini made points from there. Then one by Orsini from the foul line dropped in. Geraghty, judged another free throw, making the score 26-18. Jablonsky slipped a shot in from under the basket and missed another one from the same spot a few moments later. The ball went in, but due to too much curve came out again. Lape sank the last two-point shot for the Gray Bees. Toward the end of the game, St. Benedict's began to stall, as is their usual custom. "Loose" got the ball once and attempted a shot from beyond mid-court, but due to his arm, missed getting the much needed two points. Much as Prep tried to score in the waning minutes, it was no use, for the men were tired from the fast pace that they had been travelling.

Bees Were Outplayed

The game was well played throughout, but the Prepsters clearly outplayed the Gray Bees. Despite the fact "Loose" Jablonsky will beat Lape for All-State honors. If Roy Lins had been in the line-up and if Jablonsky had been in perfect condition, Prep would have taken St. Benedict's easily.

Hun School five of Princeton, from which the Prepsters emerged victorious 26-11.

After the first half, the game was never in doubt, but the first half was close all of the way.

To start the first period Sandbach of Hun dropped a long shot from the side; then "Loose" Jablonsky sank a foul, making the score two-one in favor of Hun. There followed quite a bit of action, although no scoring was done. In the last seconds of the period, Pennington sank two shots; one from directly beneath the basket and one from the side. Jablonsky slipped in another free throw to end the period, 6-2 in favor of Prep. After a brief rest, the second period got under way and Hun came back strong, sinking a basket from the corner and a few minutes later, one from beneath the basket to tie the score at 6 all. With but a few seconds to go, Grossman dribbled right down the center of the court to score from beneath the basket. A few seconds later the half ended in favor of Prep, 8-6.

Password Was Excellent

During the third period, the Prepsters scored freely, whereas they allowed Hun only one point and that, a free throw. After some excellent pass work, there followed a series of two-pointers by Keating and Grossman, while Jablonsky and Pennington sank two pairs of free throws, good for four points, thus ending the third period with the score in Rutgers' favor 18-7. Entering the fourth and final period, Prep found a fighting Hun five, but great defensive work on the part of the whole team staved off many rival baskets. While all this was going on, Keating sank a two-pointer from underneath the net, followed by a shot by Grossman from the side. A series of fouls was committed upon Jablonsky by Pickens, the Hun center. Loose sank all four of these, but Pickens was forced to leave the game. By this time, Hun was shooting from mid-court, followed by a shot by three seconds to go, Carlisle sank a basket from mid-court, followed by a Hawker Burns from the same place. The game ended in Prep's favor 26-11.
